

Contents

List of Illustrations	xi
Introduction: Reformation, Disestablishment, Transnationalism	1
1. The American Revolution and the Rhetoric of Schism	12
Samuel Johnson and the Loss of America	12
Enlightenment Liberty: Richard Price and Susanna Rowson	21
2. Transatlantic Romanticism and Parliamentary Reform	31
William Wordsworth, S. T. Coleridge, and the Anglican Order	31
P. B. Shelley, Lord Byron, and the Republican Inheritance	45
Reform as Apocalypse: Mary Shelley and the Novel of Purpose	55
3. The First Cold War: Anglo-American Literature and the Oregon Question	71
Manifest Destiny and Anglophobia	71
The Land Politics of Transcendentalism	81
English Counterfire: Charles Dickens and George Ruxton	93
4. Arthur Hugh Clough and the Poetics of Dissent	112
Negative Transcendentalism: The Dialogue with R. W. Emerson	112
Anti-Anglicanism: The Dialogue with Matthew Arnold	122
5. Aestheticism, Americanization, and Empire	135
The Aesthetic Movement's Transatlantic Horizons	135
The Local and the Global: George Gissing	151
6. Great Traditions: Modernism, Canonization, Counter-Reformation	171
Spirit Summoned West: D. H. Lawrence	171
The Constitution of Silence: T. S. Eliot	186
7. The Fascist Imaginary: Abstraction, Violence, and the Second World War	201
Arcadia Noir: P. G. Wodehouse	201
Through the Looking Glass: Aldous Huxley and Christopher Isherwood	223

8. Postwar Poetry and the Purifications of Exile	245
The Just City: W. H. Auden	245
The Double Image: Denise Levertov	261
A Gathered Church: Donald Davie	270
9. Postmodernist Fiction and the Inversion of History	286
Perverse Reformations: J. G. Ballard	286
American Ghosts: Angela Carter	304
Parallel Universes: Martin Amis	315
10. Global English and the Politics of Traversal	330
The Art of Blasphemy: Salman Rushdie	330
A New World Order: Caryl Phillips	346
Conclusion: The Transnationalization of English Literature	358
Works Cited	365
Index	409