

Contents

Notes on Contributors	vii
General Editors' Preface	x
Acknowledgements	xi
1 Introduction: Romantic Autobiography in England: Exploring Its Range and Variety Eugene Stelzig	1
Part 1 The Variety of Women's Life Writing
2 "My Heart Dissolved in What I Saw": Displacement of the Autobiographical Self in Dorothy Wordsworth and Gertrude Stein Kari Lokke	15
3 The Gothic Structure of Mary Robinson's Memoirs Sharon M. Setzer	31
4 Vice, Ugly Vice: Memoirs of Mrs Billington from her Birth Susan Levin	49
5 Writing Lives and Gendering History in Mary Hays's Female Biography (1803) Miriam L. Wallace	63
6 Screen Memories and Fictionalized Autobiography: Mary Shelley's Mathilda and "The Mourner": Fiction and Autobiographical Theories Diane Long Hoeveler	79
Part 2 Male Self-Fashioning
7 Wordsworth's Cliff-Hanger Joshua Wilner	99
8 De Quincey as Autobiographer Frederick Burwick	117
9 The Friend of Keats: The Reinvention of Joseph Severn Sue Brown	131

Part 3 Genres and Modes

10	"I am not what I am": Staged Presence in Romantic Autobiography Stephen C. Behrendt	145
11	Ned Ludd and Laboring-Class Autobiography Kevin Binfield	161
12	Wordsworth and the Ragged Legion; Or, The Lows of High Argument Jasper Cragwall	179
13	The Intimate Familiar: Essay as Autobiography in Romanticism Christine Chaney	195
	Index	211