

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on Contributors	viii
Introduction: Doris Lessing's Border Crossings Alice Ridout and Susan Watkins	1
1. Horrors of the Breast: Cultural Boundaries and the Abject in The Grass is Singing Edith Frampton	15
2. Inside and Outside Colonial Spaces: Border Crossings in Doris Lessing's African Stories Pat Louw	26
3. Doris Lessing's The Golden Notebook: An Experiment in Critical Fiction Nick Bentley	44
4. Doris Lessing's Fantastic Children Roberta Rubenstein	61
5. The 'Jane Somers' Hoax: Aging, Gender and the Literary Marketplace Susan Watkins	75
6. (Not Such) Great Expectations: Unmaking Maternal Ideals in The Fifth Child and We Need to Talk about Kevin Ruth Robbins	92
7. Doris Lessing's Under My Skin: The Autobiography of a Cosmopolitan 'Third Culture Kid' Alice Ridout	107

8. Environmental Fables? The Eco-Politics of Doris Lessing's 'Ifrik' Novels Fiona Becket	129
9. The Porous Border Between Fact and Fiction, Empathy and Identification in Doris Lessing's The Cleft Phyllis Sternberg Perrakis	143
Afterword: Encompassing Lessing Judith Kegan Gardiner	160
Index	167