

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements • 10

Introduction • 11

PART I. THE PREHISTORY OF THE ROMANIAN SLAVIC STUDIES

CHAPTER 1

The Historiography of the Middle Ages, Humanism, and the Baroque • 27

I. Introduction: Considerations on the Slavic-Romanian Relations as a Premise for the "Pre-History" of Romanian Slavic Studies • 27

II. Fifteenth- and Sixteenth-Century Moldavian and Wallachian Annals and Chronicles • 41

III. The Romanian Historiography During the "Long" Seventeenth Century • 44

IV. Conclusions • 91

CHAPTER 2

The Historiography of the Enlightenment and Romanticism:

The "Transylvanian Etymological School" and the Questioning of the Slavonic Heritage • 93

I. Introduction. Definitions • 93

II. The Enlightenment and Romantic Historians and the Shaping of the Romanian National Identity • 94

III. The Transylvanian School • 103

IV. Romanian Scholars from the Banat Region • 120

V. The Latinist School • 125

*VI. The Debate Surrounding Slavonism, Latinism,
As Well As the Cyrillic and Latin Alphabets • 140*

VII. Conclusions • 145

PART II. THE BIRTH OF ROMANIAN SLAVIC STUDIES. THE POLITICAL FRAMEWORK

CHAPTER 3

The Slavs As Contemporaries: History and Politics • 149

I. Introduction • 149

II. Russia and the Romanian Principalities During the Period of the Organic Regulations • 151

III. Russia, the Organic Regulations' Regime, and Pan-Slavism As Perceived by the Historians of the Time • 158

IV. The Romanian Principalities (Romania) and the National Revival Movements of the Slavic Peoples (From the Mid-Nineteenth Century Until 1918) • 174

V. Conclusions • 189

PART III. THE BIRTH OF ROMANIAN SLAVIC STUDIES. THE INSTITUTIONS

CHAPTER 4

Preliminaries of the Institutionalization of Slavic Studies: Romanian Cultural Institutions and the Recovery of the Slavonic Past • 193

I. Introduction • 193

II. The Romanian Academy and the Promotion of Slavic Studies • 194

III. Cultural or Scientific Periodicals • 205

IV. Scientific Missions and Research Trips • 212

V. Interests in the Publication of Historical Sources and Especially Slavonic and Slavonic-Romanian Ones • 224

VI. School Textbooks • 251

VII. Conferences, Public Lectures • 258

VIII. Conclusions • 262

CHAPTER 5

The Institutionalization of Slavic Studies.

The Creation and Development of University Chairs in Slavic Philology • 263

I. Introduction • 263

II. The Institutionalization of Slavic Studies at the University of Vienna • 264

III. The Establishment of the Chairs in Slavic Studies at the Romanian Universities • 266

IV. Slavic Studies at the University of Chernivtsi • 278

V. Conclusions • 281

PART IV. THE BIRTH OF ROMANIAN SLAVIC STUDIES. THE PEOPLE

CHAPTER 6

Bogdan Petriceicu Hasdeu • 285

I. Introduction • 285

II. The historiography of the topic • 286

III. Identities and Formative Environments • 287

IV. The Works of B. P. Hasdeu in the Field of Slavic Studies • 294

V. Slavic Studies in the Oeuvre of Hasdeu • 300

VI. B. P. Hasdeu's International Connections in the Field of "Slavic Antiquities" • 324

VII. Conclusions • 327

CHAPTER 7

Contemporaries of Bogdan Petriceicu Hasdeu Facing the Challenges of "Slavic Antiquities" • 329

I. Introduction • 329

II. Romanian Historians and Linguists in the Second Half of the Nineteenth Century

Facing the Challenges of "Slavic Antiquities" • 331

III. Secondary Interests in Slavic Studies • 359

IV. Slavic Elements in the History of the Romanians and the Romanian Language • 362

V. Conclusions • 367

CHAPTER 8

Ioan Bogdan and His Contemporaries: Romanian Slavic Studies at the Beginning of the Twentieth Century • 369

I. Introduction • 369

II. Ioan Bogdan: The Historiography of the Topic • 370

III. Bogdan's Writings in the Field of Slavic Studies • 374

IV. The Place of Slavic Studies in Ioan Bogdan's Career • 379

V. Ioan Bogdan's International Connections in the Field of Slavic Studies • 380

VI. Ioan Bogdan's Theoretical Writings • 387

VII. Ioan Bogdan's Main Research Directions:

Their Significance to Slavic and Southeast European Studies • 392

VIII. Conclusions • 399

IX. Ilie Bărbulescu • 400

X. Silviu Dragomir • 409

XI. Nicolae Iorga • 413

XII. Ion Nistor • 414

XIII. Iosif Popovici • 418

XIV. Secondary Interests in Slavic Studies After 1900 • 421

XV. Conclusions • 423

CHAPTER 9

The Role of European Slavic Studies in the Development of Slavic Studies in Romania • 425

I. Introduction • 425

II. The History of the Viennese School of Slavic Studies (Wiener Schule)
and Its Interest in the Romanians • 427

III. Jernej Kopitar • 431

IV. Franz Miklosich • 435

V. Vatroslav Jagić • 441

VI. Konstantin Jireček • 443

VII. Slavic Studies at the University of Chernivtsi • 448

VIII. Russian Slavic Studies and Its Interest in The Romanians • 450

IX. Conclusions • 456

Conclusions • 457

Notes • 461

Bibliography • 557

Index • 607