

Contents

List of Tables	vii
List of Figures	viii
List of Abbreviations	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1
Frank Caestecker and Bob Moore
Part I: National and International Analyses of Policies towards the Refugees from Nazi Germany
I.1. International Refugee Policy and Jewish Immigration under the Shadow of National Socialism	17
Susanne Heim
I.2. The Danish Immigration Authorities and the Issue of Rassenschande	48
Lone Rünitz
I.3. Unwilling Refugee: France and the Dilemma of Illegal Immigration, 1933–1939	57
Vicki Caron
I.4. Dwindling Options: Seeking Asylum in Switzerland 1933–1939	82
Regula Ludi
I.5. The 1930s: The End of the Latin American Open-door Policy	103
Patrick von zur Mühlen
I.6. Shanghai: A Last Resort for Desperate Jews	109
Steve Hochstadt
I.7. Palestine as a Destination for Jewish Immigrants and Refugees from Nazi Germany	122
Aviva Halamish
I.8. American Refugee Policy in the 1930s	151
Bat-Ami Zucker

I.9. Were Unaccompanied Child Refugees a Privileged Class of Refugees in the Liberal States of Europe? Claudia Curio	169
--	-----

Part II: A Comparative Analysis of Immigration Policies of Liberal States in Western Europe and the Flight from Nazi Germany

II.1. The Legal Construction of Policy towards Aliens prior to 1933	193
II.2 Refugees from Nazi Germany and the Development of Refugee Policies, 1933–1937	207
II.3 The Deepening Crisis: March 1938–October 1938	244
II.4 From Kristallnacht to War, November 1938–August 1939	276
Conclusion	313
Appendix	325
Notes on Contributors	327
Select Bibliography	331
Index	337