

Contents

List of Contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Chronology	xi
Introduction Catie Gill	1
1 What Do the Servants Know? Paddy Lyons	11
2 Flinging the Book Away: Books, Reading, and Gender on the Restoration Stage Jacqueline Pearson	33
3 Coffee-houses and Restoration Drama Juan A. Prieto-Pablos	51
4 Sex and Tyranny Revisited: Waller's The Maid's Tragedy and Rochester's Valentinian Sandra Clark	75
5 Sex, Tyranny, and the Problem of Allegiance: Political Drama During the Restoration Warren Chernaik	87
6 The Adaptation of Seventeenth-Century Spanish Drama to the English Stage During the Restoration Period: The Case of Calderón Jorge Braga Riera	107
7 The Female Wits: Women Writers at Work Jane Milling	119
8 'Jilting Jades'? Perceptions of Female Playgoers in the Restoration, 1660–1700 Fiona Ritchie	131

9	Revolution and the Moral Reform of the Stage: The Case of Dufey's The Marriage-Hater Matched (1692) María José Mora and Manuel J. Gómez-Lara	145
	Works Cited	157
	Index	175