

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
1. Mapping Postwar Historiography in Germany and Japan	14
2. The Origin of the Nation: Bismarck, Meiji Ishin, and the Subject of History	31
3. The Nation as Victim: Writing the History of National Socialism and Japanese Fascism	78
4. The Invention of Contemporary History	123
5. The Temporalization of Space: Germany and Japan between East and West	171
6. History and Memory: Germany and Japan, 1945–2000	235
Notes	263

Bibliography 303

Acknowledgments 377

Index 379