

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Preface	x
Texts and Translations Used	xiii
List of Abbreviations	xiv
Introduction: Other and Same: Female Presence in Flavian Epic	1
(Fe)Male perspectives on cosmopolitanism and identity	1
Motherhood and the Other defined: Julia Kristeva in the chôra of Strangers	14
Epic within epic: Lemnos and Theban civil war in Statius' Thebaid	21
Patrio-tic epic? Same and other in Silius' Punica	23
1 Mourning Endless: Female Otherness in Statius' Thebaid	30
Defining the periphery: Thebes and Lemnos	34
Between Lemnos and Argos: Hypsipyle's transgressed boundaries	37
Eumenidum antiquissima : Jocasta the warmonger or helpless bystander?	62
In the chôra of sisterhood: Antigone and Ismene—public gaze and private lament	68
Lament and the poet: Boundaries (re)transgressed	75
2 Defining the Other : From altera patria to tellus mater in Silius Italicus' Punica	92
Fathers, sons, and the poetics of patria	97
Capua: Another Rome? A city in the periphery	109
Saguntum as same and other: Breaking the bond with patria Rome	113
Germana Elissae : A Carthaginian reborn	136
The renewal of tellus	144

3	Comes ultima fati : Regulus' Encounter with Marcia's Otherness in Punica 6	156
	Regulus and the Punica : Bridging traditions?	159
	Literary convention or subversive speech?	164
	Lucan's Marcia and the foreboding of doom	167
	Marcia's Didoesque farewell—impenetrability wounded	176
	'Securing' the future	178
	Transgressing against nature: The serpent and Virgil's Camilla	182
	Fashioning a new generation: Marcia 'sowing the seed'	188
	Li occhi casti di Marzia tua : Embedding Marcia in the Punica	192
4	Playing the Same: Roman and Non-Roman Mothers in the Punica	196
	Edonis ut Pangaea : Imilce's art of dissuasion	198
	Ne bella pavescas : Mothers as 'educators' and the regeneration of the female	213
	Tempus cognoscere manes femineos : The female chôra in the geography of the Underworld	221
	Caelicolum Phrygia genetricem sede : A foreign goddess in Rome	229
	Epilogue: Virgins and (M)others: Appropriations of Same and Other in Flavian Rome	238
	Bibliography	254
	Indices	287