

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	8
Simon Gikandi
Foreword: On Afropolitanism	9
J. K. S. Makokha
Introduction: In the Spirit of Afropolitanism	13
Part I: Border Crossings, Precarity, Syncretism
Sim Kilosho Kabale
Afropolitanism and Erudition in Francophone African Novels, 1994 – 2000	25
Jens Frederic Elze-Volland
Precarity and Picaresque in Contemporary Nigerian Prose: An Exemplary Reading of Ben Okri's The Famished Road	47
Sola Ogunbajo
Border-Crossing Through Myth-Making: The Unbarred Muse in Selected Nigerian Literature	61
Fella Benabed
Syncretic Worldviews in Wole Soyinka's The Interpreters	75
Part II: Dissidence, Absence, Transgression
Catherine Kroll
Dogs and Dissidents at the Border: Narrative Outbreak in Patrice Nganang's Temps de Chien	89

Jennifer Wawrzinek Addressing the Absent Other in J. M. Coetzee's Age of Iron	113
Phillip Rothwell Nearly Ending the World the African Way: Pepetela's Suspension of Capital's Frontiers and Flows in O Quase Fim do Mundo	129
John E. Masterson A Post-mortem on the Postmodern? Conflict and Corporeality in Nuruddin Farah's Links	141
Russell West-Pavlov Sociology/Matriology in Maghreb Writing: Space and Feminine Transgression in Fanon's Sociologie d'une révolution and Chraïbi's La Civilisation, ma mère!	163
Part III: Unhomeliness, Diasporic Narration, Heterotopia
Emilia Ilieva and Lennox Odiemo-Munara Negotiating Dislocated Identities in the Space of Post-Colonial Chaos: Goretti Kyomuhendo's Waiting	183
Nalini Iyer No Place to Call Home: Citizenship and Belonging in M. G. Vassanji's The In-Between World of Vikram Lall	205
Remmy Shiundu Barasa and J. K. S. Makokha Weaving Exilic Narratives: Homodiegetic Narration and Postcolonial Translocation in Abdulrazak Gurnah's Admiring Silence	215
Maria Jesus Cabarcos Traseira Between Diasporic Identity and Agency: Versions of the Pastoral in Gurnah's Pilgrims Way and Mahjoub's Navigation of a Rainmaker	235
Godwin Siundu Locating Cultural Ambivalence and Afropolitanism: Nairobi and Dar-es-Salaam as Heterotopia in the Fiction of Dawood and Vassanji	259

Part IV: Language, Borders, Spaces

Mikhail Gromov

- Across the Language Border: The Case of Bilingual
Writers in Tanzania

283

Alina N. Rinkanya

- Sheng Literature in Kenya: Socio-Linguistic Borders and Spaces
in Popular Poetry

293

Mbugua wa Mungai

- “Na Hawa Watu Lazima Wakuwe Serious!: FM Radio Spaces
and Folkloric Performance of Cosmopolitan Identities in Kenya

313

Michael Wainaina

- Empire Speaks Back: Authenticity, Folk Voices and Re-Presentation of Across in Gikuyu Radio Narratives

347

Contributors

367