

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on Contributors	viii
Introduction Jim Kelly	1
Scenes: The Country and the City	11
1 Cín Lae Amhlaoibh : Modernization and the Irish Language Proinsias Ó Drisceoil	13
2 Jemmy O'Brien: Informer to Gothic Monster Timothy Webb	26
Influences from Abroad	43
3 Spanish Literature and Irish Romanticism, 1800–50 Anne MacCarthy	45
4 Robert Burns and Hibernia: Irish Romanticism and Caledonia's Bard Stephen Dornan	59
The Irish Writer Abroad	75
5 'Transatlantic Tom': Thomas Moore in North America Jane Moore	77
6 A United Irishman in the Alps: William MacNevin's A Ramble Through Swisserland (1803) Patrick Vincent	94
7 Lady Morgan (Sydney Owenson) and the Politics of Romanticism Susan Egenolf	109
Irish Poetry in the Romantic Period	123
8 Drawing Breath: The Origins of Moore's Irish Melodies Adrian Paterson	125
9 Malvina's Daughters: Irish Women Poets and the Sign of the Bard Leith Davis	141

Fictions of the Romantic Period	161
10 The Irish Book Trade in the Romantic Period Charles Benson	163
11 'Gothic' and 'National'? Challenging the Formal Distinctions of Irish Romantic Fiction Christina Morin	172
12 Escaping from Barrett's Moon: Recreating the Irish Literary Landscape in the Romantic Period Jim Shanahan	188
Afterword	205
13 Placing 'Irish' and 'Romanticism' in the Same Frame: Prospects Stephen Behrendt	207
Index	221