

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
List of Contributors	viii
Introduction Celia Deane-Drummond and Heinrich Bedford Strohm	1
The Baltic Sea as a Case Study: The Ecological and Political Challenges of the Baltic Sea Erik Bonsdorff	15
PART I: Concepts of Religion in the Public Sphere	19
1 Who Shall Speak for the Environment? Translating Religious, Scientific, Economic, and Political Regimes of Power and Knowledge in a Globalized Society Peter Beyer	21
2 Public Theology of Ecology and Civil Society Heinrich Bedford-Strohm	39
3 Right Out of Time? Politics and Nature in a Postnatural Condition Peter Manley Scott	57
4 Climate Change and the (Economic) Value of Nature – The Role of Economic Thinking in the Public Sphere Hans Diefenbacher	77
PART II: Contextual Approaches
5 Latin American Liberation Theologians' Turn to Eco(theo)logy – Critical Remarks Elina Vuola	91

6	Geology vs. Theology? Uranium Prospecting and Theological Arguments in Northern Carelia 2006-2009 Pauliina Kainulainen	111
7	Towards an African Inculturated Sophiology: The Case of African Wisdom Tradition from Myths for Ecological Concerns Loreen Maseno	125
PART III: Towards Public Theologies of Nature		139
8	Environmental Amnesia or the Memory of Place? The Need for Local Ethics of Memory in a Philosophical Theology of Place Forrest Clingerman	141
9	Public Theology as a Substantial Contribution to an Ecumenical and Ecological Culture Daniel Munteanu	161
10	Public Theology as Contested Ground: Arguments for Climate Justice Celia Deane-Drummond	189
	Bibliography	211
	Index of Subjects	233
	Index of Names	239