

Contents

| | |
|---|----------|
| List of illustrations | page vii |
| Acknowledgements | viii |
| Notes on contributors | ix |
| | |
| ‘Silly Business’ – Beckett and the World of Publishing Mark Nixon | 1 |
| | |
| THE EARLY YEARS – PUBLISHING BECKETT IN THE 1930S | |
| The ‘Shatton and Windup’ Affair: Beckett’s Dealings with the Firm of Chatto & Windus, ‘Wholesale, Retail and for Exportation’ Andrew Nash and John Pilling | 11 |
| ‘That’s how it was and them were the days’: Samuel Beckett’s early publications with Samuel Putnam and Nancy Cunard Seán Lawlor | 23 |
| Edward W. Titus at the Sign of the Black Manikin and This Quarter Lois More Overbeck | 35 |
| George Reavey – Beckett’s first literary agent Mark Nixon | 41 |
| Beckett Publishing in Ireland, 1929–1956 Seán Kennedy | 57 |
| | |
| ‘GETTING KNOWN’ – BECKETT IN THE 1940S AND 1950S | |
| Publishing ‘The End’: Beckett and Les Temps modernes Dirk Van Hulle | 73 |
| Beckett in Transition John Pilling and Seán Lawlor | 83 |
| Samuel Beckett, Olympia Press and the Merlin Juveniles Justin Beplate | 97 |

PUBLISHING HOUSES

Beckett's Last Chance: Les Éditions de Minuit 111
Shane Weller

'Cher ami' – 'Lieber Samuel Beckett': Beckett and his German
Publisher Suhrkamp Verlag 131
Gaby Hartel

Art and Commodity: Samuel Beckett's Commerce with Grove Press 139
S. E. Gontarski

Calder's Beckett 153
Peter D. McDonald

Samuel Beckett and Faber & Faber 171
Chris Ackerley

THE AFTERLIFE OF BECKETT'S CANON

Beckett and the Livre d'Artiste 187
Lois Oppenheim

Continuing the End: Variation between Beckett's French and English
Prose Works 205
Sam Slote

The Text as Figure and Ground: Beckett and Electronic Publishing 219
Dirk Van Hulle

Posthumous controversies: the publications of Beckett's Dream of Fair to middling Women and Eleutheria 229
David Tucker

Index 245