

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
1 Introduction: Determinism, Double Consciousness, and the Construction of Subjectivity in American Protest Novels	1
2 Rape, Repression, and Remainder: Racial Trauma in Wright's Early Novels	49
3 "Women on the Go": Stereotype, Domesticity, and Street Culture in Ann Petry's Fiction	89
4 "You Make Your Children Sick": Domestic Ideology and Working-Class Female Identity in Tillie Olsen's Yonnondio and Sarah E. Wright's This Child's Gonna Live	131
5 Doing Time in/as "The Monster": Subjectivity and Abjection in Narratives of Incarceration	175
Notes	199
Works Cited	231
Index	247