

Contents

Translators' Note	vii
Foreword by Janet Staiger	viii
Introduction	xii
1 In the Genre Jungle	1
Cinematic Genre: An Empirical Category	2
Every Use Has Its Own Typology	6
An Impossible Typology?	12
2 Looking for the Rules of Genre	27
Looking for Genre's Formal Rules	29
Genre: An Intertextual Phenomenon	41
In Search of the Structures of Genre	46
Semantic-Syntactic Definitions of Genre	55
3 What is the Purpose of Genres?	63
A Production Tool	64
The Social Functions of Genre	71
The Communicative Function of Genre	87
4 The Generic Identities of a Film	96
The Relations Between Film and Genre	96
The Uses of Generic Identity	108
The Mixing of Genres: Pluri-generic Attributes	116
	v

Contents

5	How To Conceptualize the History of a Genre?	131
	To Put an End to the Theory of Generic Evolution	132
	The Birth of a Cinematic Genre	141
	Hybridization and Mutation of Genres	155
6	Genres in Context	169
	Cultural Identity and the Circulation of Genres	170
	Generic Regimes	188
	Conclusion	205
	Select Bibliography	209
	Filmography	220
	Index	231