

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
Chapter 1    Introduction: The Prime Movers	1
I    Rhetorical Forms of Realism
Chapter 2    Mimetic Figures of Semiosis	15
Chapter 3    From Heteronomy to Unity: Les Chouans	32
Chapter 4    Tenebrous Affairs and Necessary Explications	47
Chapter 5    Self-Narration and the Fakery of Imitation	63
Chapter 6    The Double Representation of the History of César Birotteau	80
Chapter 7 La Maison Nucingen , a Financial Narrative	94
II    Semiotic Images of Realism
Chapter 8    Myth and Mendacity: Pierrette and Beatrice Cenci	109
Chapter 9    The Corset of La vieille fille	128
Chapter 10    Genealogy and the Unmarried in La Rabouilleuse	139
Chapter 11 Ursule Mirouët : Genealogy and Inheritance	152
Chapter 12 Un prince de la bohème and Pierre Grassou , or How Love Makes Money	167
Chapter 13    Voyages of Reflection, Reflections on Voyages	175

III Mimetic Structures of Realism

Chapter 14	Balzac and Poe: Realizing Magnetism	195
Chapter 15	Chemistry and Composition: La recherche de l'Absolu	208
Chapter 16	The Capital of Money and the Science of Magnetism: Melmoth réconcilié	221
Chapter 17	Love, Music, and Opium: Medical Semiotics of Massimilla Doni	230
Chapter 18	The Language of Sex	242
Chapter 19	Composed Past and Historical Present	259
Chapter 20	Problems of Closure	270
Chapter 21	Conclusion: Balzac's Invention of Realism	292
Bibliography		307
Index		317