

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Foreword: Difficult Dialogues: Intersectionality as Lived Experience Marsha Houston	ix
Introduction: Standing at the Intersections of Feminisms, Intersectionality, and Communication Studies Cindy L. Griffin and Karma R. Chávez	1
PART I: ENTERING THE INTERSECTION
1. Mammies and Matriarchs: Feminine Style and Signifyin(g) in Carol Moseley Braun's 2003–2004 Campaign for the Presidency Shanara Rose Reid-Brinkley	35
2. The Intersectional Style of Free Love Rhetoric Kate Zittlow Rogness	59
3. (Im)mobile Metaphors: Toward an Intersectional Rhetorical History Carly S. Woods	78
4. Placing Sex/Gender at the Forefront: Feminisms, Intersectionality, and Communication Studies Sara Hayden and D. Lynn O'Brien Hallstein	97
PART II: AUDIENCES AND AUDIENCING
5. Intersecting Audiences: Public Commentary Concerning Audre Lorde's Speech, "Uses of the Erotic: The Erotic as Power" Lester C. Olson	125

6. Constitutive Intersectionality and the Affect of Rhetorical Form	147
Leslie A. Hahner
7. Spheres of Influence: The Intersections of Feminism and Transnationalism in Betty Millard's Woman Against Myth	169
Jennifer Keohane
8. Essentialism, Intersectionality and Recognition: A Feminist Rhetorical Approach to the Audience	189
Sara L. McKinnon
Contributors	211
Index	215