

Contents

| | |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| List of Contributors | vii |
| Acknowledgments | xi |
| Introduction Bridget M. Marshall and Monika Elbert | 1 |
| Part 1 Old World Gothic and the New World Frontier | |
| 1 A Transnational Perspective on American Gothic Criticism Siân Silyn Roberts | 19 |
| 2 Transcultural Gothic: Isaac Mitchell's Alonzo and Melissa as an Early Example of Popular Culture Christian Knirsch | 35 |
| 3 The Old Gothic and the New: The Trollopes' Wild West Tamara Wagner | 49 |
| 4 Frontier Bloodlust in England: American Captivity Narratives and Stoker's Dracula Roland Finger | 69 |
| Part 2 Gothic Catholicism | |
| 5 Demonizing the Catholic Other: Religion and the Secularization Process in Gothic Literature Diane Long Hoeveler | 83 |
| 6 A Woman with a Cross: The Transgressive, Transnational Nun in Anti-Catholic Fiction Nancy F. Sweet | 97 |
| 7 The Paradox of Catholicism in New England Women's Gothic Monika Elbert | 113 |
| Part 3 Anglo-American Genre Exchanges: Beyond the Novel | |
| 8 The Haunted Transatlantic Libertine: Edmund Kean's American Tour Melissa Wehler | 139 |
| 9 Gothic Prosody: Monkish Perversity and the Poetics of Weird Form Daniel Robinson | 155 |

| | | |
|----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 10 | Transnational War Gothic from the American Civil War to World War I Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet | 173 |
| Part 4 Social Anxieties and Hauntings | | |
| 11 | “At rest now”: Child Ghosts and Social Justice in Nineteenth-Century Women’s Writing Roxanne Harde | 189 |
| 12 | All This Difficult Darkness: Lynching and the Exorcism of the Black Other in Theodore Dreiser’s “Nigger Jeff” Keith B. Mitchell | 201 |
| 13 | “Duppy Know Who Fi Frighten”: Laying Ghosts in Jamaican Fiction Candace Ward | 217 |
| 14 | Stranger Fiction: The Asian Ghost Tales of Rudyard Kipling and Lafcadio Hearn Mary Goodwin | 237 |
| | Index | 255 |