

Table of Contents

Preface.....	VII
Abbreviations.....	XVII

Chapter 1

Introduction: Who Needs Historians of the First Century?

1.1 The first century and Josephus .....	1
1.2 Who needs historians, what can they do, and why bother? .....	2
1.2.1 Tendencies and predispositions .....	5
1.2.2 Comparison of Josephus to other sources .....	6
1.2.3 Josephus' use of sources .....	7
1.3 The philological-historical approach: Some introductory comments and test-cases .....	10
1.3.1 On pendulums and cuckoos .....	12
1.3.2 Issues of text and interpretation: The case of Josephus' divorce ( Life 415) .....	14
1.3.2.1 Text .....	15
1.3.2.2 Interpretation .....	16
1.3.3 Issues of meaning in context and authorial intention: The case of Agrippa's birthday ( Ant. 19.321) .....	16
1.3.4 Issues of the use of sources: The case of Pompey's conquest ( Ant 14.74–78) .....	18
1.3.5 Issues of coordinating evidence: Josephus and Philo on Pontius Pilate .....	22
1.4 Conclusion .....	25

Chapter 2

Beneath the Text: What Text Shall We Read?

2.1 When there's too little evidence: The case of Alexander Jannaeus' crucifixion of his enemies .....	27
Context to the rescue .....	31

2.2	When there's unanimous evidence but we doubt it	33
2.2.1	When it ain't broke, don't fix it: The case of Life 185	33
2.2.2	Text authentic, although wrong: The cases of Antiquities 14.158, Antiquities 15.407, and War 5.236	34
2.2.3	Context shows text is not authentic	37
2.2.3.1	Local literary context	37
2.2.3.1.1	The case of Life 415	38
2.2.3.1.2	The case of War 2.279	39
2.2.3.2	Presumptive literary context: Manual of Discipline 11:9–11	43
2.2.3.3	Presumptive non-literary context	47
2.2.3.3.1	Governmental context? The case of Pilate's successor ( Ant. 18.89, 237)	47
2.2.3.3.2	Religious context? The case of Agrippa's critic ( Ant. 19.332) New discoveries change context	50 55
2.3	When witnesses disagree	57
2.3.1	Obviously trivial discrepancies	57
2.3.2	Seemingly serious discrepancies that turn out to be nugatory: Did the Essenes offer sacrifices ( Ant. 18.19)?	58
2.3.3	Discrepancies that do make a difference	60
2.3.3.1	Careless scribes? Toponyms in War 2.573 and Life 188	60
2.3.3.1.1	But authors too can err: Which Lyons ( War 2.183 vs. Ant. 18.252)?	61
2.3.3.2	Overly helpful scribes? Which Darius ( Ant. 11.302)?	62
2.3.3.3	Ignorant scribes? A Benjaminite priest (2 Maccabees 3:4)?	63
2.3.3.4	Theologically motivated scribes? Who sang the Magnificat (Luke 1:46–56)?	66

Chapter 3

Within the Text: Meaning in Context

3.1	What does a word or a sentence mean?	71
3.2	What does something mean in its broader context?	72
3.2.1	Aspect of an overarching theme? "Demonic" intervention in Life 402	73
3.2.2	Continuation of a story or beginning of a new one? When did Herod conquer Jerusalem?	74

3.2.3 What did Josephus choose to leave out? Stasis in Antiquities 13.299	79
3.2.3.1 Parallels?	80
3.2.3.2 Historical explanation for the omission?	81
3.2.4 Establishing a writer's Sitz im Leben	82
3.3 Event or topos ?	86
3.3.1 Event or topos , or maybe both?	86
3.3.1.1 A topos or more? Cannibalism in War 6.201–213	87
3.3.1.2 A topos and that's enough: Shipwreck in Life 15 and Acts 27	89
3.3.1.3 A topos but also history: Josephus on Essene marriage ( War 2.120–121, 160–161)	91

Chapter 4

Behind the Text: Josephus' Use of Sources

4.1 Quellenkritik	94
4.2 Where is Josephus' own voice?	96
4.3 Cumulative evidence for splicing	96
4.3.1 "Grotesque?"	99
4.4 Sources and chronology	100
4.4.1 Juxtaposed sources on the same event: The case of Vitellius' visit(s) to Jerusalem ( Ant. 18.89–122)	101
4.4.2 Further distinctions: Sources within sources	104
4.4.2.1 A high-priestly chronicle?	104
4.4.2.2 A source on John the Baptist?	106

Chapter 5

Among Texts: Rubbing Sources Together

5.1 Introduction	110
5.2 Josephus vs. Luke: The case of Quirinius' census ( Ant. 18.1–2, 26 vs. Luke 1–2)	110
5.3 Josephus vs. Philo: What did Pilate introduce into Jerusalem?	115
5.4 Josephus vs. epigraphical evidence	121
5.4.1 Really the same? The case of Potlas	121
5.4.2 Jewish editing? The case of Claudius' edict(s)	122
5.5 Josephus vs. rabbinic literature	125
5.5.1 Comparison leads us to discern Josephus' attitude toward his traditional sources: Respectful but sovereign	126

5.5.2 Comparison leads us to discern Josephus' use of sources: Antiquities 13.288–298 vs. BT Qiddushin 66a . . . . .	127
5.5.3 Comparison leads us to discern disparate agendas: War 2.409ff. vs. BT Gittin 55b–56a . . . . .	128
5.6 Josephus vs. Roman historians . . . . .	130
5.6.1 Tacitus supplements Josephus' story . . . . .	131
5.6.2 Cassius Dio supplements Josephus' story . . . . .	131
5.6.2.1 Not just a few bad apples . . . . .	132
5.6.2.2 Roman disobedience . . . . .	133
5.6.3 Tacitus contradicts Josephus . . . . .	134
5.6.3.1 Tacitean generalization vs. Josephan detail: Was all quiet under Tiberius? . . . . .	134
5.6.3.2 When Tacitus and Josephus are both detailed: The burning of the Temple . . . . .	136
5.6.4 Tacitus pushes us to examine Josephus' story more closely, and this fills out our dossiers . . . . .	139
5.7 Josephus vs. Josephus: Changing perspectives . . . . .	146
5.7.1 War vs. Life : Good Jews don't fight one another . . . . .	147
5.7.2 War vs. Antiquities : Who fought whom? . . . . .	148
5.7.2.1 War with Rome or civil war? . . . . .	149
5.7.2.2 Who is to blame? . . . . .	149
5.7.3 War vs. Antiquities : Religion and State . . . . .	151
5.7.3.1 From land to law . . . . .	152
5.7.3.2 From rebellious prophets to rebels and prophets: War 2.258–264 vs. Antiquities 20.167–172 . . . . .	156
Theudas . . . . .	159
5.7.3.3 From land to law – Q.E.D. . . . .	160
5.7.3.4 From cult to law . . . . .	161
5.7.3.4.1 Cult vs. law in other parallel narratives . . . . .	162
5.7.3.4.2 Cult vs. law in rewritten biblical history: Antiquities 8.276–281 vs. 2 Chronicles 13:4–12. . . . .	162
5.7.4 War vs. Antiquities : Which Jews are not worthy of respect? War 2.169–177 vs. Antiquities 18.55–62 . . . . .	164
5.8 Summary . . . . .	166

Chapter 6

Above the Texts: The Big Picture

6.1 Conflict is the key . . . . .	167
6.1.1 Conflict about religion and state: Smallwood vs. Kasher . . . . .	169
6.1.2 Christianity leaves the state behind: Acts 1:8 vs. 13:47 . . . . .	172

6.1.3 Rabbinic Judaism leaves the state behind:
M. Avot 1:2 vs. 1:18 .....	174
A tradition of non-historical interpretation:
BT Nedarim 27b–28a on tax-evasion .....	177

Appendix

Arnaldo Momigliano: “The Rules of the Game in the Study of Ancient History” .....	182
An Arbitrary Selection of Some Books on Historical Method .....	190

Indexes

Index of Ancient Sources .....	191
Index of Modern Authors .....	199
Index of Names, Toponyms, Topics, and Terms .....	202