

Table of Contents

Figures and Tables	13
Abbreviations and Acronyms	18
Preface	25
1 Introduction	29
Part I Tied and Untied Development Assistance: Economic, Political and Legal Dimensions	53
2 The Tying of Aid as a Contemporary Phenomenon in Development Economics and Policy: Some Key Definitions and Stylised Facts	53
2.1 Terminological and Conceptual Issues: on the Nature and Purpose of Tied and Untied Aid	53
2.1.1 Categories and Modalities of Official Aid Flows: a Brief Discussion of Major Analytical Concepts in International Development Finance	54
2.2 What Is Aid Tying? Outlining Donors' Strategies between Domestic Export Promotion and International Poverty Reduction	58
2.2.1 Forms of Tying: the Composition of National Aid Budgets	58
2.2.2 Motivations of Tying: Economic Calculation and Political Interest	63
2.3 Initial Findings and Descriptive Trends: the Aggregate Evolution of Bilateral Untying Behaviour in OECD Countries since the Late 1970s	66
2.4 Philosophical and Methodological Foundations: Problematism of the Contested Subject-matter of International Aid and Trade Relations	75

2.4.1	Ideas, Norms and Interests in Global Development Policy: a Framework of Ontological and Epistemological Cross-combinations	75
2.4.2	Metatheoretical Assumptions: Taking the Multidisciplinary Character of Modern Development Studies Seriously.....	82
2.5	Summary.....	85
3	Causes and Consequences of Aid Tying: a Survey of Theoretical Arguments and Empirical Results from Institutional Economics, Foreign Policy Analysis and Development Theory	89
3.1	The Allocative View: Determinants of National Tying Behaviour in Domestic Political Systems	89
3.1.1	Development Policy as a Struggle for Influence among Rival Interest Groups: the Role of Domestic Stakeholders in Shaping Allocative Decision-making	90
3.1.1.1	Competing Interests among Strategic Groups: Debating the Particular Preferences of Voters, Lobbies, Bureaucrats and Politicians.....	90
3.1.1.2	Competing Interests within the Aid Bureaucracy: on the Significance of Agenda-setting Powers and Principal-agent Relationships	94
3.1.2	Development Policy as Foreign Policy: Strategic Interests, Commercial Incentives and the Impact of Civilian Power	97
3.1.2.1	Rationalist-Materialist Explanations of International Aid Relations: Behavioural Hypotheses for 'Power States' and 'Trading States'	98
3.1.2.2	Ideational Explanations of International Aid Relations: 'Civilian States' and the Externalisation of Norm-based Political Identities	101
3.2	The Distributive View: Reasons for and against Untying Bilateral Aid	104
3.2.1	Distorting Effects of Tied Aid in Recipient Countries: a Critical Appraisal of Recent Research in the Field of Aid-related Procurement.....	105
3.2.1.1	Quantitative Aspects: Increased Prices, Reduced Quantities and the Ambiguities of Estimating Net Changes in National Welfare.....	105

3.2.1.2	Qualitative Aspects: a Bias towards Capital Intensity, Developmental Inefficiency and External Dependence	110
3.2.2	Direct, Indirect and 'Feedback' Effects of Tied Aid on the Economic and Political Situation of Donor Countries.....	113
3.2.2.1	Short-term Aspects: Limited Gains for Individual Companies and Industrial Sectors	113
3.2.2.2	Long-term Aspects: International Competitiveness and Political Patronage	115
3.3	Summary.....	118
4	Theoretical Framework: Contending Approaches to the Study of Bilateral Aid Relations in the Post-Cold War International System.....	121
4.1	'Donor Interest' Models of Development Assistance: Foreign Aid as an Instrument to Increase the Political Influence and Economic Welfare of Industrialised Countries.....	122
4.1.1	Modified Neorealism and the Goal of Maximising National Influence in a Context of International Anarchy	122
4.1.2	Commercial Liberalism and the Goal of Maximising National Welfare in a Context of Economic Interdependence	127
4.2	'Recipient Need' Models of Development Assistance: Foreign Aid as an Instrument to Advance Ideas of Ethical Foreign Policy and 'Good International Citizenship'	132
4.2.1	Rational Constructivism and the Goal of Promoting Fundamental Rights in a Context of Structural Instability	132
4.2.2	Entitlement Theory and the Goal of Combating Extreme Poverty in a Context of Human Need	138
4.3	Summary: Locating Competing Theories with Regard to Their Ontological and Epistemological Claims	144

Part II	The Prospects of Untying Aid in the 21st Century: Liberalising National Development Programmes in the US, Canada, France, Japan and the UK	147
5	Between Systemic Pressures and Domestic Preferences: Explaining the Shifting Aid Allocations of OECD Donors on an Aggregate Level	147
5.1	A Quantitative View on OECD-wide Untying Policies, 1979-2004: Operationalisation, Data Selection and Construction of Hypotheses (Level I)	148
5.2	A Preliminary Test: How 'Ethical' Is the Overall Untying Record of OECD Member States vis-à-vis the Least Developed Countries?	167
5.2.1	Regression Analysis (I.I): Predicting Ratios of Untied Aid to LDCs	167
5.2.2	Regression Analysis (I.II): Predicting Volumes of Untied Aid to LDCs	182
5.3	An Extended Sample of Aid Recipients: Do Only the Least Developed Countries Benefit from Policy Shifts Undertaken by OECD Donors?	188
5.3.1	Regression Analysis (I.III): Predicting Ratios of Untied Aid to New Regional Powers	190
5.3.2	Regression Analysis (I.IV): Predicting Volumes of Untied Aid to New Regional Powers	196
5.4	Complementing the Aggregate Picture from a Qualitative Perspective: Untying Aid and the OECD Debate on the Causes and Consequences of Tied Procurement and Associated Export Financing, 1969-2004	202
5.4.1	The OECD's Leverage over International Developmental Outcomes: Investigating a Transnational Debate on Trade-related Development Aid.....	211
5.4.1.1	Issue Definition and Initiation of Reform Proposals ...	212
5.4.1.2	Agenda-setting and Pre-assessment of Policy Aims....	214
5.4.1.3	Optimisation of Policy Alternatives and Estimation of Consequences	217
5.4.1.4	Policy Formulation and Programme Design.....	219
5.4.1.5	Policy Implementation.....	221
5.4.1.6	Policy Evaluation and Reformulation of Original Policy Mandate	223
5.4.2	Interpretation of Supplementary Qualitative Results	227

5.5	Complementing the Aggregate Picture from a Quantitative Perspective: To What Extent Have Individual OECD Donors Applied Untying Policies in a Coherent Manner?	231
5.5.1	An Analysis of Variance of Homogeneous Donor Groups: Small-group Configuration.....	234
5.5.2	An Analysis of Variance of Homogeneous Donor Groups: Large-group Configuration.....	236
5.6	Summary.....	241
6	Between Export Promotion and Poverty Reduction: Understanding the Selective Untying of Aid within the Political and Socioeconomic Contexts of Single OECD Donor Countries....	245
6.1	National Differences in Procurement Regimes and Aid Debates: the US, Canada, France, Japan and the UK as ‘Crucial Cases’	246
6.2	A Quantitative View on Donor-specific Untying Policies, 1979-2004: Prevalence of OECD Conformity versus Emergence of Nationally Distinct Norms and Preferences (Level II).....	257
6.2.1	Regression Analysis (II.I): Predicting Volumes of Untied Aid in the United States	257
6.2.2	Regression Analysis (II.II): Predicting Volumes of Untied Aid in Canada.....	260
6.2.3	Regression Analysis (II.III): Predicting Volumes of Untied Aid in France.....	263
6.2.4	Regression Analysis (II.IV): Predicting Volumes of Untied Aid in Japan	266
6.2.5	Regression Analysis (II.V): Predicting Volumes of Untied Aid in the United Kingdom.....	269
6.3	A Qualitative View on Donor-specific Untying Policies, 1948-2008: Refining and Deepening the Initial Hypotheses for Domestic Inquiry.....	272
6.4	Why are US, Canadian, French, Japanese and UK Untying Policies Different? The Domestic Sources and Strategic Transformations of Bilateral Aid and Trade Relations with the Less Developed World.....	282
6.4.1	The United States: Still a ‘Cold Warrior with Economic Interests’?	282
6.4.1.1	Historical Peculiarities and Substantive Evolution of US Foreign Aid and Trade Relations	282

6.4.1.2	Institutional Context, Administrative Structures and the Aid Policy-making System	293
6.4.1.3	Procedural Coordination and Implementation of Trade-related Aid Policies	300
6.4.2	Canada: from 'Aid Paradoxes' to Revamped Liberal Internationalism.....	305
6.4.2.1	Historical Peculiarities and Substantive Evolution of Canada's Foreign Aid and Trade Relations.....	305
6.4.2.2	Institutional Context, Administrative Structures and the Aid Policy-making System	311
6.4.2.3	Procedural Coordination and Implementation of Trade-related Aid Policies	314
6.4.3	France: Putting Development at the Service of 'Priority Solidarity Zones'	317
6.4.3.1	Historical Peculiarities and Substantive Evolution of France's Foreign Aid and Trade Relations.....	317
6.4.3.2	Institutional Context, Administrative Structures and the Aid Policy-making System	324
6.4.3.3	Procedural Coordination and Implementation of Trade-related Aid Policies	330
6.4.4	Japan: a Power in Trade and Aid, a Power through Trade and Aid.....	335
6.4.4.1	Historical Peculiarities and Substantive Evolution of Japan's Foreign Aid and Trade Relations.....	335
6.4.4.2	Institutional Context, Administrative Structures and the Aid Policy-making System	344
6.4.4.3	Procedural Coordination and Implementation of Trade-related Aid Policies.....	353
6.4.5	The United Kingdom: Global Poverty Reduction and Enhanced Aid Efficiency as Core Elements of 'Good International Citizenship'	357
6.4.5.1	Historical Peculiarities and Substantive Evolution of UK Foreign Aid and Trade Relations.....	357
6.4.5.2	Institutional Context, Administrative Structures and the Aid Policy-making System	366
6.4.5.3	Procedural Coordination and Implementation of Trade-related Aid Policies.....	372
6.5	Summary.....	376

7	Tracing Change in Aid Politics on the Systemic and Domestic Levels: a Comparative Reassessment of Exogenous and Endogenous Influences on National Development Regimes and Procurement Strategies	383
7.1	Untying Aid and the International System: New Macro-conceptions of Global Development as a Reaction to the Demise of Bipolarity and Spread of Extreme Poverty in the Third World?	384
7.1.1	Indications of Systemically Induced Policy Changes: Untying Aid and the Seismic Shifts in World Politics post-1989	385
7.1.2	The Power of Policy Entrepreneurs: International Development Institutions and the Strategic Linkage of Political Agendas in International Aid Politics	388
7.2	Untying Aid and Donors' Domestic Environments: What Foreign Policy Analysis Tells Us about the Practice of International Aid and Trade Relations.....	394
7.2.1	On the Persistence of Nationally Divergent Aid and Trade Strategies: the Legacy of Neomercantilism and the Dynamics of 'Prisoner's Dilemmas'	395
7.2.2	On the Limits and Possibilities of Improved Policy Coordination: the Common Rationale for Increased Aid Efficiency, Its Domestic Reformulations and the Prospects of Further Untying of Aid in the 21 st Century...398
7.3	Summary: Outside-in and Inside-out Explanations Reconsidered	401
8	Conclusion: from 'Selfish Donors' to 'Good International Citizens'?.....	405
References	425
Appendix 1	The Evolution of Aggregate Tying and Untying Behaviour in the DAC-22 Group, 1979-2004	453
Appendix 2	The Evolution of Aggregate Tying and Untying Behaviour of Individual DAC-22 Member States, 1979-2004.....	457
Appendix 3	Nelson's Model of a 'Low-level Equilibrium Trap' Caused by High Population Growth and/or Insufficient Domestic Savings	475

Appendix 4	Samples, Variables and Statistical Methods (Regression Analysis and Analysis of Variance).....	477
Appendix 5	Coding Scheme and Distributions (Analysis of Variance)	485
Appendix 6	Organisational Charts of National Aid Systems in Selected DAC-22 Member States	491
Appendix 7	List of DAC Members, Least Developed Countries and New Regional Powers	497