

Contents

| | |
|--|----|
| Chapter 1 Introduction I: The development of civilizations (esp. Jaspers, Roetz, Holenstein), comparing inventions, enlightenment | 11 |
| Introduction into the understanding of civilizations | 12 |
| Preliminary remarks | 13 |
| Definition of culture | 14 |
| Introduction of models | 14 |
| A1) Permuter (1965): ethnocentric model | 15 |
| A2) Permuter: scientific model | 16 |
| A3) Permuter: dialectic model | 16 |
| B) Yoshikawa (1982): dialogical model | 17 |
| C) Hall: | 18 |
| Chapter 2 Introduction II | 20 |
| New models | 20 |
| D 01) New model to compare cultures | 20 |
| D 02) Differentiation, intra-complexity of cultures | 21 |
| D 03) New model combined with Hall | 22 |
| The transparency (commonness) should be moved to the center, since this is the starting point for all human beings, since culture is only learned. .. | 22 |
| So we developed the classical models into different size and internally differentiated between commonness and specialties. D 04) New model: multiform | 22 |
| D 04) New model: multiform | 23 |
| D 05) Clash of cultures | 24 |
| There are three trends bringing cultures together in our every day-life: Globalization, Internet, travel freedom. Our future work places will be effected by other cultures too. So everybody is concerned. D 06) Cultures come together | 24 |
| D 06) Cultures come together | 25 |
| D 07) Cultural Comparison | 26 |
| D 08) The suggested new model: understanding differences/commonnesses through comparison | 27 |
| D 09) Transforming the results of the comparison into knowledge | 28 |
| D 10) Drawing an (ideally) complete map of the foreign culture | 29 |
| E) Tools / Criteria of cultural comparison | 30 |
| F) Cultural Standards | 31 |
| Role play I: Shaking hands | 31 |

| | |
|---|----|
| Role play 2: What makes a German German and a Chinese Chinese?..... | 32 |
| Chapter 3 Comparing Greek and Chinese Ancient Ethics, guest lecture by PD Dr. Guido Rappe, Karlsruhe | 33 |
| Notes | 33 |
| Discussion | 34 |
| Recommended readings | 37 |
| Chapter 4 Comparison of Chinese and Western civilizations..... | 38 |
| A1) Hegel's steps of a world spirit | 39 |
| Development of world spirit. From: Holenstein.A2) Kohlberg's step model | 39 |
| A2) Kohlberg's step model | 40 |
| B1) Jasper's Theory of the Axial Age | 43 |
| Jasper's axial theory is not only a timely one (800 BC – 200 BC), which the reader might now, but it appears also geographically as an axis. [See beneath: Holenstein's "Fertile crescent"]...... | 43 |
| Literature: Jaspers, Karl; Bullock, Michael (Tr.) (1953). The Origin and Goal of History (1st English ed.). London: Routledge and Keegan Paul.... | 43 |
| [German original: Jaspers, Karl (1949). Vom Ursprung und Ziel der Geschichte (1st ed.). München: Piper Verlag]B2) Cultures of Scriptum and Knowledge | 43 |
| B2) Cultures of Scriptum and Knowledge | 44 |
| B3) Jasper's 'stovepipe model' | 45 |
| C) The fertile crescent (Holenstein)..... | 46 |
| D) When was China ahead? When and why was China a step behind? Why did industrialization not take place in China, why overtook Europe? (“Needham puzzle”)..... | 47 |
| Discussion about basic questions of comparison | 59 |
| Chapter 5 Cross-cultural dinner | 61 |
| Chapter 6 Philosopher Kings and Sage Kings: Idea of Rulership and its Philosophical Basis in the Political Theories of Plato and Neo-Confucianism, guest lecture by Prof. Dr. Wolfgang Ommerborn..... | 63 |
| Handout..... | 64 |
| Readings..... | 65 |
| Chapter 7 Philosophical Questions of Right and Law: West-East open lecture, with discussion, guest lecture by Prof. Dr. Konrad Wegmann | 67 |
| Abstract | 67 |
| Main theses | 68 |

| | |
|--|----|
| Chapter 8 Staging Cross-cultural Corporate Cultures: How to Create Culture with Action, guest lecture by Maren Leidenberger, M.A. | 71 |
| Main theses | 71 |
| Agenda | 71 |
| Abstract | 72 |
| Literature..... | 74 |
| Chapter 9..... | 75 |
| Final remarks | 75 |