
Contents

Preface	ix
PART I INTRODUCTION	1
1 Norbert Elias: a Determined Life in Uncertain Times	3
From Breslau to Heidelberg via the Trenches and Philosophy	4
In Heidelberg: the Weber Circle and Karl Mannheim	9
Frankfurt: in the Marxburg	14
Exile	16
African Interlude	23
The Years of Recognition	24
PART II THE CIVILIZING PROCESS	27
2 Manners	29
Civilization and Culture	34
The History of Manners	36
The Curve of the Civilizing Process	38
Table manners	38
The 'natural functions'	39
Blowing one's nose	39
Spitting	40
In the bedroom	40
A Sequential Order of Development	42
'Reasons' for the Changes	45
'Material reasons'	45
'Reasons' of health and hygiene	46
'Reasons of respect'	47

The Dynamic of Social Relations	47
Death, sleeping, appetite	51
The Body and Sexual Relations	53
Aggressiveness, Violence, Cruelty	57
Conclusion	59
3 States and Courts	61
Centrifugal Forces Dominant: Antiquity to Feudalism	62
Centripetal Forces Dominant: State-Formation Processes	66
The monopoly mechanism	67
The royal mechanism	73
From private to public monopolies	78
Courts, Civilization and Culture	79
Cycles of Violence and their Resolution	88
Mafia in Sicily	89
'Parliamentarization' in England	90
Conclusion	92
4 Sociogenesis and Psychogenesis	94
Foresight and the Social Constraint towards Self-Constraint	95
Variations on Foresight	101
Psychologization and increasing mutual identification	101
Rationalization	102
Shame and embarrassment	104
'Pressure from Below' and the Circulation of Models	107
Conclusion	111
PART III EXTENSIONS	113
5 Established-Outsiders Relations and Functional Democratization	115
Established-Outsiders Relations in Microcosm: Winston Parva	116
Established-Outsiders Relations in Macrocosm	121
Civilizing the peasants and the workers	125
The welfare state and transitions in mutual identification	127
'Race' and 'ethnic' relations	129
Men and women	131
Homosexuals and heterosexuals	136
Conclusion	137
6 Sport and Violence	140
The Quest for Excitement in Unexciting Societies	141
The Spare-Time Spectrum	143
Earlier Forms of Games	144
The Significance of England	147
Fox-hunting	149
Rugby	150
Violence in Contemporary Sport: Players and Spectators	153
Conclusion: Towards a Sociology of the Emotions	158

7	Involvement and Detachment: a Theory of Knowledge and the Sciences	159
	Involvement and Detachment	159
	Fantasy and reality	162
	Science as a detour via detachment	163
	Relative autonomy and heteronomy	165
	Double-binds in the growth of human knowledge	166
	The triad of basic controls	169
	The Development of the Natural Sciences	172
	God's laws	174
	A 'model of models'	175
	Structure theories and process theories	177
	Conclusion	179
8	The Development of the Social Sciences	181
	Structured Processes, Economic and Social	182
	Base and superstructure, consciousness and society	184
	Philosophical versus Sociological Theories of Knowledge	186
	Homo clausus versus homines aperti	188
	Academic Establishments and Sociological Outsiders	194
	The philosophers' establishment	194
	The historians' establishment	195
	Conclusion	196
9	Humanity as a Whole	200
	The Human Organism and Human Emotions	202
	The Domestication of Fire	208
	Time and Timing	210
	Survival Units and the Integration of Humanity	217
	The Taming of the Great Powers?	220
	Conclusion	223
	PART IV DISPUTES	225
10	Civilization and Decivilization	227
	The Argument from Cultural Relativism	228
	The charge of 'unilinear evolutionism'	234
	The Argument from 'Stateless Civilizations'	237
	The 'Permissive Society' Argument	241
	The 'Barbarization' Argument	246
	Conclusion	250
11	Some Principles of Process Sociology	251
	The Primacy of Process	252
	The Game Models	258
	Personal Pronouns as a Figurational Model	264
	Improving Means of Orientation as a Primary Task of the Social Sciences	267
	'Only Connect': Elias's Achievement	269

Notes	271
Bibliography	292
Works of Norbert Elias 1924–87	292
Other works cited	296
Index	311