

CONTENTS

	PAGE
INTRODUCTION AND OUTLINE	ix

PART I: COLOURED BOOKS

CHAPTER I

PRE-MUNICH	3
The German White Book — The Polish White Book — The Two Together (May 1933—October 1938)

CHAPTER II

FROM MUNICH TO PRAGUE (September 29th, 1938— March 15th, 1939)	34
After Munich — The Franco-German Declaration — Hitler endorses the Ribbentrop Plan — The End of Munich

CHAPTER III

RE-ALIGNMENTS (March—April 1939)	71
The Aftermath — Chamberlain begins to React — Memel — Back to Danzig — In Search of Collective Defence — The Polish Reply to Germany — Rumours, Fears, and their Dénouement

CHAPTER IV

HESITATION AND QUEST	117
More Aggression and Further Guarantees — Interlude — President Roosevelt's Appeal, Hitler's Speech, and Beck's Reply

CHAPTER V

ANGLO-RUSSIAN NEGOTIATIONS (April—August 1939)	143
The Early Stages of the Negotiations — Parliament Inter- venes — Poland, Germany, and Russia — Unsolicited Guarantees and Indirect Aggression

DIPLOMATIC PRELUDE

CHAPTER VI

	PAGE
GERMAN-POLISH RELATIONS (May-July 1939)	211
Hitler decides to Attack — As Henderson saw It — German Manœuvres — Bonnet and Ribbentrop — Further Manœuvres — Preparations and Illusions

CHAPTER VII

PROLOGUE TO CRISIS	248
Danzig Once More — Informing the Italians — At the Wilhelmstrasse, August 15th — The Russian-German Agreement

CHAPTER VIII

THE CRISIS	290
Reactions in London and Paris — Hitler's Address of August 22nd — Chamberlain's Letter and Hitler's Reply — "Incidents" — The Anglo-Polish Treaty — August 25th in Berlin — A Wild-Goose Chase — Daladier's Appeal — The British Reply, August 28th — August 29th — August 30th and 31st

CHAPTER IX

WAR	382
Italian Attempt at Mediation — Great Britain declares War — France declares War

PART II: EPISODES AND MEN

I. THE IDES OF MARCH, 1939	405
II. AN INTERLOPER IN DIPLOMACY	417
III. FRANCE AND POLAND (1935-1939)	434
IV. CIANO AND MUSSOLINI	467
INDEX	495