

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on Contributors	viii
Introduction	1
Gillian Dow and Clare Hanson
1 'A genius for foretelling': Augustan Austen and Future Fiction	19
Deidre Lynch
2 'England's Jane': The Legacy of Jane Austen in the Fiction of Barbara Pym, Dodie Smith and Elizabeth Taylor	37
Maroula Joannou
3 'The Future of Pemberley': Emma Tennant, the 'Classic Progression' and Literary Trespassing	59
Rebecca Munford
4 New Approaches to Austen and the Popular Reader	77
Juliette Wells
5 Jane Austen's Life on Page and Screen	92
Julian North
6 Letters to Jane: Austen, the Letter and Twentieth-Century Women's Writing	115
William May
7 At Home with Jane: Placing Austen in Contemporary Culture	132
Felicity James
8 Uses of Translation: The Global Jane Austen	154
Gillian Dow
9 The Ethics of Geography: Women as Readers and Dancers in Gurinder Chadha's Bride and Prejudice (2004)	175
Stephanie Jones

vi Contents

10	'Bin Laden a Huge Jane Austen Fan': Jane Austen in Contemporary Political Discourse Mary Ann O'Farrell	192
11	What Would Jane Do? Postfeminist Media Uses of Austen and the Austen Reader Shelley Cobb	208
	Select Bibliography	228
	Index	239