

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	9
Introduction	11
1. “Bucharest-on-the-Seine”: The Anatomy of a National Obsession Monica Spiridon	23
2. The Orientalism of Anna de Noailles Ferdâ Asya	37
3. Before They Were Famous: Tristan Tzara, Nationhood, and Poetry Stephen Forcer	71
4. The Surrealist Group of Bucharest: Collective Works, 1945–1947 Monique Yaari	95
5. The Trans-cultural Journey of Benjamin Fondane Monique Jutrin	137
6. French as the Language of Libre Échange in the Works of Panaït Istrati Catherine Rossi	161
7. Home Is Elsewhere: Exile in the Theatre of Ionesco Ingrid Chafee	173

8.	Traditionalism and Protochronism in the European Context Ashby Crowder	197
9.	Isidore Isou's Spirited Letters Jean-Jacques Thomas	225
10.	Emile Cioran and the Politics of Exile Anne Quinney	253
	Notes on Contributors	283