

Contents

Acknowledgments. . . . .	vii
Introduction. Homeric Durability: Time and Poetics in Homer's Iliad . . . . .	1
1. Decay, Disintegration, and Objectified Time: The Rhetoric of Time and Memory. . . . .	45
2. Men and Worms: Permanence and Organic Decay . . . . .	65
3. Permanence and Non-Organic Structures: Walls in the Iliad . . . . .	95
4. Memorials, Tombs, and the γέρας θανόντων: The (Im)Permanence of Mortuary Architecture in the Iliad . . . . .	131
5. The Impermanence of the Permanent: The Death of the Gods? . . . . .	159
Epilogue. Homeric Durability: Concluding Remarks . . . . .	231
Appendix. The Semantic Field of "Decay" in Homeric Epic . . . . .	239
Works Cited . . . . .	273
Index Verborum . . . . .	299
Index Locorum . . . . .	303
General Index . . . . .	317