

Table of Contents

Susanne Bach

Introduction: Intertextual Transitions	1
-----------------------------------------------	----------

Melanie Schrage-Lang

Intertextuality in Ann-Marie MacDonald's Goodnight Desdemona (Good Morning Juliet)	7
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------

1. Introduction	9
2. Intertextual Theory Avant la Lettre	11
2.1 The Enemy of All Poets and His Socratic Dialogues	11
2.2 Quixotism and Intertextuality	12
2.3 T.S. Eliot and the Influence of Tradition	14
2.4 Saussure: Intertextuality's Linguistic Background	15
2.5 Bakhtin and the Social Word	17
3. Coining and Proliferation of the Term	19
3.1 Kristeva: Sowing the Seeds	19
3.2 Barthes: On Texts and Authoricide	22
3.3 Genette: Rescue the Meaning	24
3.4 Bloom: Misreading and Facticity	26
3.5 Gynocriticism and Postcolonialism: Voices from the Margins	27
4. One Play, (In)Numerous Intertexts	30
4.1 The Intertextual Bard	30
4.1.1 Falstaff in Disguise	33
4.1.2 The Bawdy Bard	34
4.1.3 Take It From the Critics	37
4.2 Jung and the Alchemy of Dreams	41
4.3 An 'Eyre' of Intertextuality in a Sargasso Sea of Meanings	44
4.4 Quixotic Twists and Turns	48
4.5 Intertextual Miscellaneous	51
5. The Allegory in the Play	53
6. Conclusion	64
Bibliography	66

Martina Hörnicke

Gendering Myths – Margaret Atwood's The Penelopiad and Aritha van Herk's The Tent Peg	73
1. Introduction	75
2. Defining Myth	77
2.1 General Remarks: The Difficulty of Defining Myth	77
2.2 Northrop Frye: Myths as Narratives of Gods and Heroes	82
2.3 Marina Warner's Theory of Mythical Openness	89
2.4 The Relationship of Myth and Science: Mythos vs. Logos	92
3. Defining Gender	94
3.1 Judith Butler: Genders as Socio-Cultural Constructs	94
3.2 Marilyn French's Masculine and Feminine Principles	98
4. The Myth-Gender Nexus in Atwood's The Penelopiad	101
4.1 De- and Reymthologisation in The Penelopiad	101
4.2 Mythology and Masculinity: Challenging Odysseus' Hero Identity	107
4.3 The Penelopiad and Femininity: Shifting the Focus	113
5. The Connection of Myth and Gender in van Herk's The Tent Peg	151
5.1 Conquering Nature: Elements of Demythologisation	151
5.2 Tendencies of Remythologisation in van Herk's Novel	157
5.3 Refashioning the Myth of Jael: J.L. als the Great Mother	174
6. Conclusion	191
Bibliography	195