

TABLE OF CONTENTS

About the three essays: Freedom, Law and Liberal-Mindedness	7
Part I:	9
Liberalism in the economy around 1250	9
Abstract	11
Preliminary remarks	17
1. On the situation in Europe in the Middle Ages	19
1.1 The year 1000	19
1.2 Feudalism	24
What is feudalism?	24
Why leave feudalism behind?	24
The State and the power vacuum	26
Legal certainty on journeys	29
1.3 What's the point of economic action?	30
1.4 Natural sciences: "falsification"	32
2. On ethics: freedom and serfdom	34
2.1 Definitions and applications of ethics	34
2.2 Economic requirements	36
Efficiency: use of scarce resources	36
Subsidiarity: managing with subsystems	36
Freedom: monasteries – cities – merchants	37
Long-distance communications	40
Reputation of merchants	40
Liberal anarchy and legal certainty	41
Improving the monetary system – the clergy	43
2.3 Headlines spanning four centuries 1000–1350	44

2.4 Thomas Aquinas (1225–1274): a philosopher of the Enlightenment?	48
2.5 Natural law in the Catholic Social Doctrine	49
The principles of personal justice	50
The principles of social justice	51
Justice: The principles of efficiency	51
2.6 The period around 1250	53
2.7 Two political tragedies: the constitution	54
3. Résumé and unresolved questions	56
4. Literature	58

Part II:	61
Legal certainty and prosperity	61

Abstract	63
1. Introduction	65
2. The term “risk”	69
3. Examples of risks	71
3.1 Roman seafaring in the winter	71
3.2 Risks attached to innovation	75
3.3 Risks in medieval times	77
4. Awareness of risks	83
5. Legal certainty – property – contractual freedom	85
6. Conclusions	88
7. Literature	91
8. Annexes	94
8.1 Science sheds light on 18th century agriculture	94
8.2 The decline of an industrial nation in 1880	96
8.3 Scepticism towards modernity	98

Part III:	103
Opening up to the world around 1000	103
Abstract	105
1. Introduction	106
2. Justification for the social market economy	108
Excursus: Inflation in post-war Germany	111
3. The economy in Catalonia around 1000	117
3.1 Life in Catalonia	117
3.2 Modern Islam – ancient Christians	121
A comparison between West and East	121
The abduction of Almodis by Jews and Arabs from Tortosa	123
3.3 The blossoming of finance	125
The Gold Rush	125
3.4 The ups and downs of foreign trade	128
4. What happened next? – Looking ahead	130
5. Literature	136
6. Annexes	138
6.1 Historical dates: from the Arabs to the Reconquista	138
6.2 Eminent sons of merchants and noblemen	139
6.3 Development of world population	140
6.4 Moses Maimonides (1135–1204)	142
6.5 God, the Builder of the Universe (1050)	145
About the author	146
Notes	149
Index	156
Acknowledgments	160