

Contents

Holden Härtl Introduction .....	7
Gisbert Fanselow Morphological mismatches in discontinuous noun phrases .....	11
Werner Frey On indefinite NPs participating in the German predicate complex .....	27
Andrew McIntyre English particle verbs are complex heads: Evidence from nominalization .....	41
Sophie Repp D-Linking vs. degree: Inflected and uninflected ‘welch’ in exclamatives and rhetorical questions .....	59
Karin Pittner Reflexivization and intensification in syntax and lexicon .....	91
Markus Egg Don’t mince your words: In defense of lexical integrity .....	107
Claudia Maienborn &amp; Sascha Geldermann ‘Expertengeprüft’ und ‘vom Experten geprüft’: Zur Semantik von Nomen-Partizip II-Komposita und ihrer präpositionalen Partner .....	127
Holden Härtl Arguments of non-heads .....	163
Angelika Wöllstein Aspekte des Absentivs: ‘Wir sind Sue gratulieren’ – Zum Problem der Lokalisierung im Absentiv .....	179
Elisabeth Löbel Semantische Kongruenz .....	201
Ilse Zimmermann Selektion und Interpretation morpho-syntaktischer Einheiten .....	217
Nicole Dehé &amp; Allison Wetterlin Secondary stress in morphologically complex words in Faroese: A word game .....	229

Heinz Vater
On participles of German verbs borrowed from English .....	249
Heike Tappe
Morphological code-mixing: The case of Zulu agreement in English .....	263
Lothar Peter
English – synthetic, analytic and synthetic again? Are we going round in circles? The cases of the reduced auxiliaries ‘have’ and ‘will’ .....	287
Heike Zinsmeister
Corpus-based modeling of the semantic transparency of noun-noun compounds .....	303
Claudia Olk
Why say ‘yes’ in Joyce? Molly Bloom’s ‘yes because’ in the “Penelope” episode of Ulysses .....	323