

Contents

|        |  |      |
|--------|--|------|
|        | Acknowledgments  | xvii |
|        | Introduction   | 1    |
|        | Part One: Heroes in Epic and Lyric Poetry                 | 7    |
|        | Introduction to Homeric Poetry                                   | 9    |
| HOUR 1 | THE HOMERIC ILIAD AND THE GLORYOF THE UNSEASONAL HERO | 26   |
|        | The Meaning of Kleos                                      | 26   |
|        | The Kleos of Achilles as Epic ‘Glory’                     | 27   |
|        | A Much Shorter Version of Epic ‘Glory’                           | 29   |
|        | The Immortalizing Power of Kleos as Epic ‘Glory’          | 31   |
|        | The Meaning of Hōrā                                       | 32   |
|        | The Need for Heroes to ‘Script’ Their Own Death                  | 32   |
|        | Hēraklēs as a Model Hero   | 33   |
|        | The Labors of Hēraklēs   | 40   |
|        | Hēraklēs and the Meaning of Kleos                         | 42   |
|        | Hēraklēs and the Idea of the Hero                                | 44   |
|        | Achilles and the Idea of the Hero                                | 46   |
|        | Achilles and the Meaning of Kleos                         | 47   |
| HOUR 2 | ACHILLES AS EPIC HERO AND THE IDEA OFTOTAL RECALL IN SONG    | 48   |
|        | The Meaning of Memnēmai                                   | 48   |
|        | Phoenix and His Total Recall                                     | 48   |

|   |    |
|---|----|
| The Idea of Kleos as a Medium of Total Recall      | 50 |
| The Idea of Kleos as Epic Narrative                | 51 |
| An Epic Tale Told by Phoenix                              | 54 |
| The Form of Epic Poetry                                   | 55 |
| To Sing the Klea Andrōn , 'Glories of Men'         | 55 |
| The Klea Andrōn , 'Glories of Men', as Heroic Song | 57 |
| The Concept of a Speech Act                               | 59 |
| Back to the Epic Tale Told by Phoenix                     | 60 |
| The Emotions of Fear and Pity                             | 64 |
| The Story of Meleagros and Kleopatra                      | 65 |
| Plato's Reading of the Iliad                       | 70 |
| The Epic Choice of Achilles                               | 71 |

|                |  |    |
|----------------|--|----|
| HOURL 3 | ACHILLES AND THE POETICS OF LAMENT      | 74 |
|                | The Meaning of Akhos and Penthos | 74 |
|                | A Man of Constant Sorrow                       | 74 |
|                | Achilles and Penthesileia the Amazon           | 75 |
|                | The Essentials of Singing Laments              | 77 |
|                | A Conventional Gesture in Women's Laments      | 81 |
|                | A Typological Comparison of Laments            | 84 |
|                | The First Lament of Andromache                 | 85 |
|                | What Achilles Sang                             | 87 |
|                | The Song of Kleopatra                          | 88 |

|                |  |    |
|----------------|--|----|
| HOURL 4 | ACHILLES AS LYRIC HERO IN THE SONGS OFSAPPHO AND PINDAR    | 90 |
|                | The Meaning of Aphthito-  | 90 |
|                | The Imperishable Glory of Achilles in a Song of Pindar                 | 91 |
|                | The Lyric Glory of Achilles  | 93 |
|                | The Imperishable Glory of Hector and Andromachein a Song of Sappho | 96 |

|               |   |            |
|---------------|---|------------|
|               | Achilles as a Bridegroom  | 98         |
|               | Achilles as a Focus of Lament   | 99         |
|               | The Unfailing Glory of Achilles   | 102        |
|               | Contrasting the Artificial and the Natural  | 103        |
|               | The Unwiling Glory of Achilles  | 104        |
|               | Achilles as a Model for Singing Lyric Songs of Glory  | 105        |
|               | Models of Lament  | 105        |
| HOOR 5 | WHEN MORTALS BECOME 'EQUAL' TO IMMORTALS:DEATH OF A HERO, DEATH OF A BRIDEGROOM | 109 |
|               | The Meaning of Daimōn  | 109        |
|               | The Expression 'Equal to a Daimōn '  | 109        |
|               | Apollo as Divine Antagonist of Achilles   | 114        |
|               | Arēs as Divine Antagonist of Achilles   | 115        |
|               | Achilles as Ideal Warrior and Ideal Bridegroom  | 115        |
|               | The Historical Background of Sappho's Songs   | 116        |
|               | Transition to Sappho's Songs  | 118        |
|               | Arēs and Aphrodite as Models for the Bridegroomand the Bride                            | 118        |
|               | Song 31 of Sappho   | 119        |
|               | Song 1 of Sappho  | 122        |
|               | The Ritual Background of Song 1 of Sappho   | 125        |
|               | The Maiden Song of Alcman   | 126        |
|               | A Typological Comparison of Initiation Rituals  | 128        |
|               | Song 16 of Sappho   | 129        |
|               | Another Song of Sappho  | 131        |
|               | Back to Song 16 of Sappho   | 131        |
|               | Back to Song 31 of Sappho   | 132        |
|               | Epiphany and Death  | 133        |
|               | Erōs and Arēs   | 135        |
|               | Arēs as a Model for Achilles  | 136        |

|               |  |            |
|---------------|--|------------|
|               | Achilles the Eternal Bridegroom  | 136        |
|               | Briseis as a Stand-in for Aphrodite  | 138        |
|               | The Merging of Identity in Myth and Ritual   | 140        |
|               | Distinctions between Real Death and FigurativeDeath in Lyric                       | 141        |
|               | Apollo as Model for Achilles   | 142        |
|               | Fatal Attraction   | 144        |
| HOOR 6 | PATROKLOS AS THE OTHER SELF OF ACHILLES   | 146 |
|               | The Meaning of Therapōn   | 146        |
|               | Patroklos as Therapōn   | 147        |
|               | Anatolian Origins of the Word Therapōn  | 148        |
|               | Early Greek Uses of the Words Therapōn ,Theraps , Therapeuein | 153        |
|               | The Therapōn as Charioteer  | 154        |
|               | The Therapōn as a Ritual Substitute   | 157        |
|               | Arēs as Divine Antagonist of Patroklos and Achilles                                    | 161        |
|               | The Therapeutic Function of the Therapōn  | 162        |
|               | Patroklos as the Other Self of Achilles  | 166        |
|               | Ramifications of the Idea of Another Self  | 166        |
|               | Simone Weil on Sacrificial Substitution  | 167        |
| HOOR 7 | THE SIGN OF THE HERO IN VISUAL AND VERBAL ART                                   | 169 |
|               | The Meaning of Sēma   | 169        |
|               | The Sign of the Hero at a Chariot Race   | 169        |
|               | The Sign in the Visual Arts  | 176        |
|               | Selected Examples of Signs in the Visual Arts  | 177        |
|               | Hour 7a. Myth and Ritual in Pictures of Chariot ScenesInvolving Achilles   | 207        |
|               | Hour 7b. Apobatic Chariot Racing  | 212        |
|               | Hour 7c. Apobatic Chariot Fighting  | 217        |

|               |  |     |
|---------------|--|-----|
|               | Hour 7d. Distinctions between Chariot Fighting and Chariot Racing                     | 221 |
|               | Hour 7e. Homeric Poetry at the Festival of the Panathenaia in Athens                  | 223 |
|               | Hour 7f. Signs of Alternative Epic Traditions as Reflected in Athenian Vase Paintings | 227 |
|               | Hour 7g. The Apobatic Moment  | 231 |
| HOOR 8 | THE PSYCHOLOGY OF THE HERO'S SIGN IN THE HOMERIC ILIAD                         | 235 |
|               | The Meaning of Psūkhē   | 235 |
|               | The Psūkhē of Patroklos in the Iliad   | 236 |
|               | The Psūkhē of Patroklos in the Picture Painted on the Münster Hydria                  | 239 |
|               | Achilles and Patroklos as Cult Heroes of Apobatic Chariot Racing                             | 240 |
|               | An Athletic Event at Eleusis   | 241 |
|               | Achilles and Dēmophōn as Cult Heroes of Festivals  | 243 |
|               | Achilles as a Model of Rhapsodic Performance   | 244 |
|               | Achilles and Patroklos as Cult Heroes of a Poetic Event                                      | 247 |
|               | The Prefiguring of Achilles by Patroklos   | 250 |
|               | Heroic Immortalization and the Psūkhē   | 251 |
|               | The Psūkhē as Both Messenger and Message  | 252 |
|               | A Fusion of Heroic Myth and Athletic Ritual  | 254 |
|               | Back to the Glory of the Ancestors   | 256 |
|               | Back to the Meaning of Patroklos   | 259 |
|               | Hour 8a. About the Ritual Origins of Athletics  | 264 |
|               | Hour 8b. The Meaning of Āthlos / Aethlos                                | 268 |
|               | Hour 8c. Back to the Panathenaia  | 271 |
|               | Hour 8d. Patroklos as a Model for Achilles  | 272 |
|               | Hour 8e. The Mentality of Re-enactment at Festivals                                   | 273 |

|                    |   |                |
|--------------------|---|----------------|
| HOOR 9      | THE RETURN OF ODYSSEUS IN THEHOMERIC ODYSSEY                           | 275     |
|                    | The Meaning of Nostos  | 275            |
|                    | The Roles of Odysseus   | 277            |
|                    | The Complementarity of the Iliad and the Odyssey                            | 278            |
|                    | The Heroic Mentality of Achieving Nostos   | 280            |
|                    | A Nostos in the Making   | 284            |
|                    | Echoes of Lament in a Song about Homecoming   | 286            |
| HOOR 10 | THE MIND OF ODYSSEUS IN THEHOMERIC ODYSSEY                         | 296 |
|                    | The Meaning of Noos  | 296            |
|                    | The Interaction of Noos and Nostos  | 298            |
|                    | The Hero's Return to His Former Social Status   | 300            |
|                    | The Hero's Return from the Cave   | 301            |
|                    | The Return to Light and Life  | 306            |
|                    | The Journey of a Soul   | 307            |
| HOOR 11 | BLESSED ARE THE HEROES: THE CULT HERO INHOMERIC POETRY AND BEYOND         | 314 |
|                    | The Meaning of Olbios  | 314            |
|                    | Signs of Hero Cult  | 317            |
|                    | Different Meanings of the Word Olbios for theInitiated and for the Uninitiated | 320            |
|                    | How a Homeric Hero Can Become Truly Olbios   | 323            |
|                    | The Death of Odysseus   | 325            |
|                    | A Mystical Vision of the Tomb of Odysseus   | 331            |
|                    | Two Meanings of a Sēma   | 335            |
|                    | An Antagonism between Athena and Odysseus   | 337            |
|                    | Conclusion: The Seafarer Is Dead and the HarvestIs Complete                           | 340            |

|                |  |     |
|----------------|--|-----|
| HOUR 12 | THE CULT HERO AS AN EXPONENT OF JUSTICEIN HOMERIC POETRY AND BEYOND          | 345 |
|                | The Meaning of Dikē   | 345 |
|                | An Occurrence of Dikē as 'Justice' in the Odyssey                          | 345 |
|                | The Golden Generation of Humankind   | 348 |
|                | Hesiod as an Exponent of Justice   | 348 |
|                | Metaphors for Dikē and Hubris  | 349 |
|                | The Silver Generation of Humankind   | 352 |
|                | Two Further Generations of Humankind   | 354 |
|                | Hesiod in the Iron Age   | 358 |
|                | Back to Hesiod as an Exponent of Dikē   | 361 |
|                | A Reconnection of Generations in an Orchard  | 362 |
|                | Part Two: Heroes in Prose Media   | 365 |
| HOUR 13 | A CRISIS IN READING THE WORLD OF HEROES   | 367 |
|                | The Meaning of Krinein  | 367 |
|                | A Story about the Meaning of Olbios in the Historiesof Herodotus       | 367 |
|                | Another Story about the Meaning of Olbios inthe Histories of Herodotus | 371 |
|                | Variations in Discriminating between the Realand the Unreal                          | 376 |
|                | Variations in Discriminating between Justice and Injustice                               | 377 |
|                | Heroes as Exponents of Justice in Poetry afterHomer and Hesiod                       | 383 |
| HOUR 14 | LONGING FOR A HERO: A RETROSPECTIVE   | 387 |
|                | The Meaning of Pothos   | 387 |
|                | Testimony from the Hērōikos of Philostratus                                       | 387 |
|                | Longing for Protesilaos in the Homeric Iliad                                      | 393 |
|                | The Sacred Eroticism of Heroic Beauty  | 394 |

|                |  |            |
|----------------|--|------------|
|                | The Beauty of Seasonality in a Modern Greek Poem                   | 397        |
|                | The Beauty of the Hero in Death                                    | 399        |
|                | A Beautiful Setting for the Beautiful Cult Hero                    | 400        |
|                | Paroxysms of Sentimentality in Worshipping Cult Heroes             | 404        |
|                | Back to the Tumulus of Achilles                                    | 406        |
|                | Longing for Achilles: You're Going to Miss Me                      | 410        |
|                | Longing for Patroklos: I'll Miss Him Forever                       | 413        |
| HOOR 15 | WHAT THE HERO 'MEANS'                                       | 415 |
|                | The Meaning of Sēmainein                                    | 415        |
|                | What Protesilaos 'Means'   | 415        |
|                | The Mystery of a Cult Hero   | 418        |
|                | What Herodotus 'Means'   | 420        |
|                | More on the Mystery of a Cult Hero                                 | 422        |
|                | Back to the 'Meaning' of Protesilaos                               | 425        |
|                | Initiation into the Mysteries of a Cult Hero                       | 428        |
|                | The Descent of an Initiand into the Nether Worldof a Cult Hero | 431        |
|                | A Brief Commentary on the Text about the Descent                   | 435        |
|                | The Oracular Consultation of Heroes                                | 439        |
|                | An Initiation for the Reader                                       | 440        |
|                | The Personal Intimacy of Experiencing a Heroic Epiphany            | 442        |
|                | Ritual Correctness in Making Mental Contact withthe Cult Hero  | 443        |
|                | How the Cult Hero Communicates                                     | 444        |
|                | More on the Oracular Consultation of Heroes                        | 445        |
|                | Coming Back Once Again to What the Hero 'Means'                    | 450        |
|                | The Cult Hero as a Medium  | 454        |
|                | Part Three: Heroes in Tragedy                               | 455        |
|                | Introduction to Tragedy  | 457        |

|                    |   |         |
|--------------------|---|---------|
| HOOR 16     | HEROIC ABERRATION IN THE AGAMEMNONOF AESCHYLUS  | 462     |
|                    | The Meaning of Atē   | 462     |
|                    | The Oresteia Trilogy of Aeschylus in the Larger Contextof His Other Tragedies                    | 462     |
|                    | The Atē of Agamemnon in Epic and Tragedy   | 463     |
|                    | An Ainos about a Lion Cub  | 465     |
|                    | Predators as Agents of Dikē  | 468     |
|                    | Predators as Agents of Deeds Contrary to Dikē  | 469     |
|                    | A Sequence of Symbols   | 476     |
|                    | The Symbolic Wording of the Watchman  | 478     |
|                    | Three Further Examples of Symbolic Wording  | 480     |
| HOOR 17 | LOOKING BEYOND THE CULT HERO IN THE LIBATIONBEARERS AND THE EUMENIDES OF AESCHYLUS          | 484 |
|                    | The Meaning of Tīmē  | 484     |
|                    | The Agenda of Athena  | 484     |
|                    | Pouring Libations for Cult Heroes or for Ancestors  | 486     |
|                    | What Stands in the Way of a Ritually Correct Libationby Electra   | 488     |
|                    | Transcending the Spirit of Vendetta  | 491     |
|                    | A New World Order for Athens  | 492     |
| HOOR 18 | SOPHOCLES' OEDIPUS AT COLONUS AND THEPOWER OF THE CULT HERO IN DEATH                        | 497 |
|                    | The Meaning of Kolōnos   | 497     |
|                    | More on the Meaning of Colonus  | 499     |
|                    | How to Imagine Colonus  | 500     |
|                    | Colonus, Land of Running Horses   | 502     |
|                    | Further Perspectives on the Meanings Connectedto the Word Kolōnos and to the Name Kolōnos | 505     |
|                    | Oedipus as Cult Hero at Colonus   | 506     |

|                |  |            |
|----------------|--|------------|
|                | The Mysterious Death of Oedipus  | 514        |
|                | Scenarios for Dying and Then Coming Back to Life   | 518        |
|                | The Mystification of the Hero's Tomb in theOedipus at Colonus                                 | 522        |
|                | Personalizing the Death of Oedipus   | 523        |
| HOOR 19 | SOPHOCLES' OEDIPUS TYRANNUS ANDHEROIC POLLUTION                                       | 525 |
|                | The Meaning of Miasma   | 525        |
|                | The Pollution of Tyrants   | 526        |
|                | A Look inside the Psūkhē of Oedipus   | 529        |
|                | The Pollution Caused by Oedipus  | 531        |
|                | Oedipus as Savior  | 532        |
|                | A Second Look inside the Psūkhē of Oedipus  | 535        |
|                | Purifying the Pollution in Tragedy   | 536        |
|                | The Reaction of Oedipus to His Own Pollution in theOedipus Tyrannus                           | 538        |
| HOOR 20 | THE HERO AS MIRROR OF MEN'S ANDWOMEN'S EXPERIENCES IN THE HIPPOLYTUSOF EURIPIDES | 542 |
|                | The Meaning of Telos  | 542        |
|                | Two Contexts of Telos for Hippolytus  | 542        |
|                | Hippolytus as a Cult Hero in Athens  | 545        |
|                | Hippolytus as a Cult Hero in Trozen  | 548        |
|                | Comparing the Trozenian and the Athenian Versionsof the Hippolytus Tradition                         | 551        |
|                | Two Conventional Patterns of Thinking about Hippolytusas a Cult Hero in Trozen                       | 553        |
|                | Hippolytus in Epidaurus  | 555        |
|                | Euripides Recapitulates a Trozenian Ritual   | 557        |
|                | Love Song and Song of Laments  | 559        |

|                |  |            |
|----------------|--|------------|
|                | The Trouble with Hippolytus  | 561        |
|                | The Complementarity of Artemis and Aphrodite                                 | 561        |
|                | From Native Trozenian Ritual to the Dramaof Athenian State Theater       | 562        |
|                | Empathy for Female and Male Experiences                                      | 565        |
|                | The Death of Phaedra   | 569        |
|                | Epilogue: The Death of Phaethon  | 570        |
| HOOR 21 | THE HERO'S AGONY IN THE BACCHAEOF EURIPIDES               | 572 |
|                | The Meaning of Agōn   | 572        |
|                | The Agōn of Pentheus  | 573        |
|                | The Meaning of Pathos   | 574        |
|                | Staging the Dismemberment of Pentheus  | 575        |
|                | The Staging of Dionysus  | 581        |
|                | The Subjectivity of Dionysus   | 582        |
|                | Staging the Bacchants  | 585        |
|                | Staging Pentheus   | 588        |
|                | A Divine Prototype for the Passion of Pentheus                               | 591        |
|                | Tracking Down the Origins of Tragedy   | 595        |
|                | Hope for a Reassembly of the Body afterIts Dismemberment                 | 598        |
|                | Part Four: Heroes in Two Dialogues of Plato                       | 603    |
| HOOR 22 | THE LIVING WORD I: SOCRATES INPLATO'S APOLOGY OF SOCRATES | 605 |
|                | The Meaning of Daimonion  | 605        |
|                | The Subversive Threat of 'the Superhuman Signal'                             | 605        |
|                | What Happens to Socrates after Death   | 607        |
|                | A Heroic Timing for the Death of Socrates                                    | 613        |

|                |  |            |
|----------------|--|------------|
|                | Socrates and Achilles  | 614        |
|                | An Odyssean Way for the Journey of Socrates                                  | 619        |
|                | The Swan Song of Socrates  | 623        |
| HOOR 23 | THE LIVING WORD II: MORE ON PLATO'SSOCRATES IN THE PHAEDO | 625 |
|                | The Meaning of Theōriā  | 625        |
|                | The Symbolism of Theōriā in Plato's Phaedo                     | 629        |
|                | The Garlanding of the Theoric Ship   | 633        |
|                | Revisiting another Theōriā  | 635        |
|                | Theorizing about Theōriā  | 636        |
|                | Socrates, Master of Poetry as well as Dialogue                               | 638        |
|                | A New Way to Imagine Immortalization after Death                             | 645        |
|                | Part Five: Heroes Transcended                                     | 653    |
| HOOR 24 | THE HERO AS SAVIOR  | 655 |
|                | The Meaning of Sōzein and Sōtēr                                | 655        |
|                | Theseus as a Savior for the Athenians  | 656        |
|                | A Metaphorical Use of the Word Sōzein by Plato's Socrates             | 657        |
|                | A Metaphorical Use of the Word Sōphrōnin an Archaic Hymn          | 659        |
|                | Achilles as Saved Hero and as Savior Hero                                    | 664        |
|                | Achilles, Hero of the Hellespont   | 667        |
|                | Three More Glimpses of Heroic Salvation                                      | 675        |
|                | The Living Word of Plato's Socrates  | 680        |
|                | Core Vocabulary of Key Greek Words                                       | 687    |
|                | Abbreviations  | 693        |
|                | References   | 695        |
|                | Index Locorum  | 713        |