

Contents

Abbreviations	15
Preface	17
1. Introduction	23
1.1 Purpose	23
1.2 Why a new contribution on Jesus' originality?	23
1.3 A definition of the "historical Jesus"	27
1.4 The existing sources	28
1.5 How is it possible to reconstruct the historical Jesus?	31
1.6 What can we understand by "originality"?	36
1.7 Difficulties and benefits by comparing Jesus with related figures	39
1.8 Approach and outline	43
2. A critical survey of modern Jesus research from Reimarus to 2012	47
2.1 Introduction	47
2.2 Major positions in the first and second periods of modern Jesus research (from Reimarus to ca. 1970)	49
2.3 Main positions in the third period of modern Jesus research (ca. 1970–2012)	58
2.4 Recent unhistorical interpretations of Jesus and contemporary popular literature and films about Jesus	68
2.5 A critical presentation of modern Danish research on the historical Jesus from Georg Brandes (1925) to Mogens Müller (2008a)	74
2.5.1 Introduction	74
2.5.2 Selected Danish Jesus monographs	75
2.5.3 The negative or ambiguous attitude of leading Danish New Testament scholars to the issue of the historical Jesus	80
2.5.4 Conclusions	82
2.6 General conclusions	83
3. A critical examination of previous proposals on the originality of the historical Jesus	87
3.1 Introduction	87

3.2	A preliminary overview of earlier interpretations of Jesus' originality	88
3.3	The traditional Christian answer: Jesus' unique effort was to bring Christianity into this world	97
3.4	A new and higher ethics	99
3.5	Jesus' parables and other formal features of the Jesus tradition	107
3.6	Liberation and emancipation	110
3.7	The eschatological proclamation of the imminent coming of god's kingdom	114
3.8	Healings and other miracles	120
3.9	Jesus' authority and status	123
3.10	Conclusions	128
4.	A revised reconstruction of the eschatological project of the historical Jesus	130
4.1	Introduction	130
4.2	The appointment of the twelve selected envoys	132
4.3	The chosen "remnant" of the Jewish people	134
4.4	The Mosaic Law	137
4.5	The temple in Jerusalem	145
4.6	The journey to Jerusalem	149
4.7	Jesus' possible predictions and interpretations of his impending death	153
4.8	The institution of a new covenant between the Jewish god and the Jewish people	158
4.9	Jews and gentiles in Jesus' eschatological project	162
4.10	Jesus and the Jewish ideas of the Messiah	165
4.11	Conclusions	170
5.	The comparative Jesus	174
5.1	Introduction	174
5.2	A brief critical presentation of earlier comparative attempts	176
5.2.1	The traditional Christian interpretation of the originality of Jesus	176
5.2.2	A comparative version of the traditional Christian interpretation	177
5.2.3	Random comparisons between Jesus and related figures in various regions and periods	178
5.2.4	Conclusions	179
5.3	Jesus compared to related Jewish figures	180
5.3.1	Jesus compared with ancient (mythical) Jewish characters	180
5.3.2	Jesus compared to contemporary Jewish figures	181
5.3.2.1	The Hasmonean Prince Simon	182

5.3.2.2	The Teacher of Righteousness	183
5.3.2.3	Rabbi Hillel	188
5.3.2.4	Judas the Galilean	190
5.3.2.5	John the Baptist	198
5.3.2.6	Jesus Barabbas	218
5.3.2.7	Theudas	220
5.3.2.8	Paul	223
5.3.2.9	The Egyptian Prophet	226
5.3.2.10	Jesus Son of Ananiah	228
5.3.2.11	Josephus	230
5.3.2.12	Rabbi Jochanan Ben-Zakkai	234
5.3.2.13	Rabbi Akiba	236
5.3.2.14	Simon Bar Kochba	238
5.3.3	Jesus compared with related Jewish figures in later times	241
5.3.3.1	Jehudah ha-nasi	241
5.3.3.2	Sabbatai Zvi	242
5.3.3.3	Menachem Mendel Schneersohn	244
5.3.3.4	Conclusions	245
5.4	Jesus compared with contemporary related Hellenistic-Roman figures	245
5.5	Jesus compared with later related Christian figures	251
5.6	Jesus compared to other related religio-historical figures	252
5.7	Jesus compared with related “secular prophets” in modern times	253
5.8	Conclusions	255
5.8.1	Main Conclusion	255
5.8.2	Jesus compared to contemporary Jewish figures	257
5.8.2.1	Similarities	257
5.8.2.2	Differences	258
6.	Conclusions	261
6.1	Introduction	261
6.2	Summary	261
6.3	The concept of “originality”	262
6.4	The term “comparison”	263
6.5	Modern Jesus research	263
6.6	A Summary sketch of the historical Jesus	264
6.7	How original was Jesus?	267
	Bibliography	269