

Contents

Introduction Christine Godt	1
What is to be gained from comparative research and teaching? Thoughts for an ideal agenda Franz Werro	7
Commentary to Franz Werro Gert Brüggemeier	23
Strengthening the comparative method in European legal research: three suggestions Aurelia Colombi Ciacchi	25
The European Union development of European property law Bram Akkermans	39
Comparative property law: collective rights within common law and civil law systems Alison Clarke and Christine Godt	61
The Dutch and German notarial systems compared Christoph U. Schmid	83
La protection constitutionnelle des droits fondamentaux en France et en Allemagne: la montée en puissance des juridictions constitutionnelles Götz Frank & Gilles Lebreton	99
Eine alternative Föderalismusreform – das Konsens-Reichsgesetz als Muster für die Bundesrepublik? Gerhard Hoogers	109
L'emprise de la Convention Européenne des droits de l'homme sur la jurisprudence et la législation françaises dans le domaine de la liberté d'expression Diane de Bellescize	133

Governance and public health Friedhelm Hase	149
The quest for soft law as binding law contributing to European Integration Herman E. Bröring	155
The evolving conservation standards of EU marine environmental law and their effects on the common fisheries policy Till Markus	171
Who owns the North Pole? Concurrent claims of the arctic shelf and the challenges for international law Thomas Heinicke	187
Coastal protection planning in the Wadden area the role of facilitating legal systems Ulrich Meyerholt and Wabbe de Vries	205
Addendum Program 27-28 May 2010	212