

CONTENTS

Introduction 1

Manijeh Mannani and Veronica Thompson

A Semiotic Reading of Hédi Bouraoui's The Woman Between the Lines 13

Elizabeth Dahab

Mourning Lost "Others" in Ronnie Burkett's Happy 39

Janne Cleveland

Putting an End to Recycled Violence in Colleen Wagner's The Monument 69

Gilbert McInnis

Representations of the Self and the Other in Canadian Intercultural Theatre 95

Anne Nothof

Pulling Her Self Together: Daphne Marlatt's Ana Historic 115

Veronica Thompson

"New, Angular Possibilities":
Redefining Ethnicity Through
Transcultural Exchanges in Marusya
Bociurkiw's The Children of Mary 151

Dana Patrascu-Kingsley

The Elegiac Loss of the English-Canadian Self and the End of the Romantic Identification with the Aboriginal Other in Leonard
Cohen's Beautiful Losers 175

Jesse Rae Archibald-Barber

Playing the Role of the Tribe:
The Aesthetics of Appropriation in Canadian Aboriginal Hip Hop 207

Thor Polukoshko

Toward a Theory of the Dubject:
Doubling and Spacing the Self in Canadian Media Culture 235

Mark A. McCutcheon

List of Contributors 265