

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction: The Problems of Spielmannsepik and Brautwerbungsepik	1
Genre and medieval literature	2
The origins of the category Spielmannsepik	6
Spielmannsepik without the Spielmann	12
Brautwerbungsepik	19
Solutions to the problem	25
1 König Rother : Rother and Dietrich	35
Rother	39
Dietrich	49
Rother Again	55
Conclusion	60
2 Salman und Morolf : Salme and Morolf	70
Salme, the danger of love, and the drive of the narrative	75
Morolf, practical knowledge, and normative behaviour	82
Conclusion	94
3 The Münchner Oswald : Saint and King	102
Lives of St Oswald	102
Chastity and kingship	107
Problems of interpretation in the Münchner Oswald	111
Oswald's raven	122
Conclusion	126
4 Grauer Rock : Orendel and the Grey Robe	137
Grauer Rock and the tunica inconsutilis	137
Robe and man: a relationship of indexicality?	142
Orendel and the Holy Grave	149
Conclusion: the reception of Grauer Rock	154
Conclusion	163
Bibliography	167
Index	181