

Contents

Gabriele Kreutzner and Heidi Schelhowe Introduction .....	7
 I. Research and Knowledge in the Information Age: Selected Feminist Approaches
Eva Hartmann Transnationalizing Tertiary Education in a Global Information Society .....	25
Gill Kirkup Open and Virtual Universities .....	43
Cynthia L. Selfe, Gail E. Hawisher Compromising Women: Teaching Composition Online and at a Distance in the United States .....	57
Rosi Braidotti The Material Foundation of Virtual Subjectivity .....	73
Cecile K. M. Crutzen ICT-Representations as Transformative Critical Rooms .....	87
 II. The vifu Project: Inside and Outside Assessments
Gabriele Kreutzner, Heidi Schelhowe, Barbara Schelkle Driven by User-Oriented, Participation and Interaction: vifu – Virtual Women’s University (www.vifu.de) .....	109

Seda Gürses Computer Training at vifu: Digging Out Curiosity .....	125
Birgit Oelker, Herbert Asselmeyer Lessons to be Learned from the Project and Process of Supported E-Learning at the Virtual Women's University .....	133
Heidrun Allert, Hadhami Dhraief, Wolfgang Nejd Intelligent Online Knowledge Resources for Instructional Learning. Computer-Supported and Computer-Aided Design for Online Knowledge Resources .....	147
Melanie Dunn and Mara-Anahi Kuhl The Users' vifu .....	155
Maika Büschenfeldt, Birte Plutat, Heidi Schelhowe, Isabel Zorn Information Architecture and Networks at vifu – Continuation of the Project in 2002 .....	161
Barbara Maria Grüter The Hype and the Morning After – What We Have Learned about E-Learning .....	179
III. From Traditional University to Networks of Shared Knowledge and Learning
Wendy Harcourt Women on the Net: the Internet as a Tool for Social Transformation .....	191
Fatma Alloo How ICT Plays a Role in Social Movement – The Case of Africa .....	201
Tanja Paulitz Productive Differences – Virtual Networks Call For Heterogeneity .....	205
Authors .....	219