

Contents

Acknowledgments	V
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Initial Remarks	1
1.2 Structure	5
1.3 Overview of Auster Criticism	8
1.4 Auster in the Postmodern Context	12
1.4.1 The Motif of the Quest as Part of the Artistic Struggle	15
1.4.2 Modern vs. Postmodern identity formation	17
1.4.3 Modern vs. Postmodern Art	20
1.5 Rationality	26
1.5.1 Art vs. Rationality	28
1.5.2 Auster's personal Experiences of Art and its Incompatibility with Money	29
1.5.3 Auster's work at the art-bookshop Ex Libris and other sources for art	31
1.6 Uses of Art in Auster's Fiction	38
1.7 Lack of the Father as a Prerequisite for Creativity	46

2	Moon Palace	53
2.1	Introduction.....	53
2.2	Structure of Moon Palace	54
2.2.1	Three cycles of growth	58
2.2.2	Marco Stanley Fogg's quest for identity	59
2.2.3	Julian Barber/Thomas Effing	62
2.2.4	Solomon Barber	65
2.3	The Hunger Artist/Living through words	69
2.3.1	Mind and Matter: Aesthetic Foundation of Marco's Experiment	75
2.3.2	Rejection of Schopenhauer's Negation of the Will/ Ascetic Withdrawal	77
2.3.3	Learning to See /Thomas Effing's Influence	90
2.3.4	John Dewey's Aesthetic Theories put into Practice	92
2.4	Looking at Art	104
2.4.1	Moonlight	110
2.4.2	American Landscape Paining of the 19th century/ Blakelock vs. Moran	116
2.4.3	American vs. European Art	130
2.4.4	The Artist's Experience facing the Sublime	132
2.4.5	Cultural Contextualization – American Art of the 'Sixties	138
2.5	Consequences	143
3	The Music of Chance	145
3.1	Introduction.....	145
3.2	Chance in General	148
3.3	Chance and Art	152
3.4	Auster's views on Chance and Art.....	155
3.5	The Music of Chance	157

3.6	Conclusion	165
4	In the Country of Last Things	167
4.1	Introduction	167
4.2	Linguistic Issues	169
4.3	Strategies for Survival in the 'City of Destruction'	172
4.4	Art as a Countermovement to Disappearance and Isolation	176
4.5	Patchwork Identity as a Consequence of the Postmodern Living Situation	178
5	Leviathan and Double Game	183
5.1	Introduction	183
5.2	Leviathan	184
5.2.1	Sophie Calle alias Maria Turner as portrayed in Leviathan	184
5.2.2	Benjamin Sachs or the Art of Undoing the Fall	195
5.3	Double Game	207
5.4	Gotham Handbook	214
5.5	Consequences	216
6	Conclusion	219
7	Bibliography	227
	Articles	236
	Interviews	239
	Exhibition Catalogues	240