

Contents

Boxes and Available Datasets xi

Preface and Acknowledgments xiii

Symbols and Acronyms xxi

1 Overview 1

1.1 A Few Key Definitions 5

1.2 The Reservation Wage and the Value of a Job 8

1.2.1 From Individual to Aggregate Labor Supply 12

1.2.2 The Value of a Job 13

1.2.3 A Perfect Labor Market Equilibrium 14

1.3 Labor Market Institutions 15

1.3.1 Acting on Prices 15

1.3.2 Acting on Quantities 17

1.3.3 Institutional Interactions 18

1.3.4 Why Do Labor Market Institutions Exist? 19

1.4 Reforms of Labor Market Institutions 22

1.5 Review Questions and Exercises 27

1.6 Technical Annex: A Simple Static Framework 28

1.6.1 A Competitive Labor Market 28

1.6.2 Labor Market Institutions 30

1.6.3 The Wedge 30

1.6.4 Product Market Competition and the Employment Bias of Institutions 32

2 Minimum Wages 35

2.1 Cross-Country Comparisons 36

2.2 Theory 39

2.2.1 A Perfect Labor Market 39

2.2.2 An Imperfect Labor Market 40

2.3 Empirical Evidence 45

2.3.1 Studies Based on Firm-Level Data 45

2.3.2 Studies Based on Natural Experiments 46

2.3.3 Studies Based on Workers' Histories 50

2.4 Policy Issues 51

2.4.1 Should the Minimum Wage Be Reduced or Increased? 51

2.4.2 Should There Be a Youth Minimum Wage? 52

- 2.5 Interactions with Other Institutions 56
- 2.6 Why Does a Minimum Wage Exist? 57
- 2.7 Suggestions for Further Reading 58
- 2.8 Review Questions and Exercises 58
- 2.9 Technical Annex: Minimum Wage Revisited 59
 - 2.9.1 Minimum Wage and Monopsony 59
 - 2.9.2 Bargaining or Government Setting? 60
 - 2.9.3 Efficiency Wages 61

3 Unions and Collective Bargaining 63

- 3.1 Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons 64
 - 3.1.1 Union Density 64
 - 3.1.2 Coverage and Excess Coverage 67
 - 3.1.3 Centralization and Coordination 68
 - 3.1.4 Strike Activity 68
- 3.2 Theory 70
 - 3.2.1 Collective Bargaining 70
 - 3.2.2 Union Membership 75
 - 3.2.3 Strikes 77
- 3.3 Empirical Evidence 79
 - 3.3.1 Effects of Unions on Wages 79
 - 3.3.2 Bargaining Coordination, Union Density, and Unemployment 81
- 3.4 Policy Issues 82
 - 3.4.1 Do Unions Increase Efficiency? 82
 - 3.4.2 Should Collective Bargaining Be Decentralized? 84
- 3.5 Interactions with Other Institutions 86
- 3.6 Why Do Unions Exist? 86
- 3.7 Suggestions for Further Reading 87
- 3.8 Review Questions and Exercises 87
- 3.9 Technical Annex: Unions Revisited 89
 - 3.9.1 How Strong Should Unions Be to Be Efficient? 89
 - 3.9.2 Deriving the Contract Curve 91

4 Antidiscrimination Legislation 95

- 4.1 Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons 96
- 4.2 Theory 98
 - 4.2.1 A Perfect Labor Market 98
 - 4.2.2 An Imperfect Labor Market 102
- 4.3 Empirical Evidence 107
 - 4.3.1 Unconditional Gender Employment and Earnings Gaps 107
 - 4.3.2 Empirical Evidence on Discrimination in the Labor Market 109
- 4.4 Policy Issues 114
 - 4.4.1 Equal Pay Legislation 115
 - 4.4.2 Affirmative Action 115
- 4.5 Interactions with Other Institutions 117

4.6	Why Does Antidiscrimination Legislation Exist?	117
4.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	118
4.8	Review Questions and Exercises	118
4.9	Technical Annex: Discrimination	120
4.9.1	Prejudice in a Competitive Labor Market	120
4.9.2	Monopsony and Gender Discrimination	121
4.9.3	Unobserved Heterogeneity in a Correspondence Study	121
5	Regulation of Working Hours	123
5.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	124
5.2	Theory	128
5.2.1	A Perfect Labor Market	128
5.2.2	Labor Supply: Overtime Pay and Availability of Part-Time Work	128
5.2.3	Labor Demand and the Choice between Hours and Workers	132
5.2.4	An Imperfect Labor Market	133
5.2.5	Short-Time Work	134
5.2.6	Regulating Weekly Working Hours	135
5.3	Empirical Evidence	139
5.3.1	Working Hours	139
5.3.2	Part-Time Work	143
5.4	Policy Issues	147
5.4.1	Should Governments Regulate Working Hours?	147
5.4.2	Should Governments Subsidize STW?	148
5.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	150
5.6	Why Does Regulation of Working Hours Exist?	151
5.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	151
5.8	Review Questions and Exercises	151
5.9	Technical Annex: Intensive and Extensive Margins	152
6	Early Retirement Plans	155
6.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	156
6.2	Theory	160
6.3	Empirical Evidence	162
6.3.1	Age and Employment	162
6.3.2	Age and Productivity	169
6.4	Policy Issues	170
6.4.1	Should the Mandatory Retirement Age Be Increased?	170
6.4.2	Should Early Retirement Programs Be Phased Out?	171
6.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	173
6.6	Why Do Early Retirement Programs Exist?	174
6.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	175
6.8	Review Questions and Exercises	175
6.9	Technical Annex: Optimal Retirement Age	177
7	Family Policies	179
7.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	180

7.2	Theory	182
7.2.1	Subsidized Childcare	182
7.2.2	Mandated Parental Leave	185
7.2.3	Effects on Fertility	187
7.3	Empirical Evidence	189
7.4	Policy Issues	197
7.4.1	Should Public Policies Encourage Mothers to Work?	197
7.4.2	Who in the Family Should Receive the Subsidy?	200
7.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	201
7.6	Why Do Family Policies Exist?	203
7.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	203
7.8	Review Questions and Exercises	204
7.9	Technical Annex: Family Policies	205
7.9.1	Childcare Facilities	205
7.9.2	The Surplus from Home Production	206
7.9.3	The Unitary and Collective Models of the Household	206
8	Education and Training	209
8.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	211
8.2	Theory	214
8.2.1	A Perfect Labor Market	214
8.2.2	An Imperfect Labor Market	217
8.3	Empirical Evidence	222
8.3.1	Returns to Schooling	222
8.3.2	Estimating the Returns to Schooling	224
8.3.3	On-the-Job Training	230
8.4	Policy Issues	232
8.4.1	Should There Be a Compulsory Schooling Age?	232
8.4.2	Should Governments Subsidize In-Company Training?	234
8.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	234
8.6	Why Do Governments Subsidize Education and Training?	237
8.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	237
8.8	Review Questions and Exercises	237
8.9	Technical Annex: Education and Training	239
8.9.1	Optimal Years of Schooling	239
8.9.2	Signaling	241
8.9.3	Derivation of the Mincer Equation	242
8.9.4	Who Pays for General Training?	243
9	Migration Policies	245
9.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	247
9.2	Theory	251
9.2.1	A Perfect Labor Market	251
9.2.2	An Economy with Wage Rigidities	252
9.2.3	What Drives Migration Decisions?	253
9.2.4	Effects on Income Distribution of Skill-Biased Migration	255

9.3	Empirical Evidence	256
9.3.1	Labor Market Effects of Immigration	256
9.3.2	Fiscal Effects of Immigration	263
9.3.3	Labor Market Performance of Migrants	264
9.3.4	Labor Market Performance of Immigrant Children	265
9.4	Policy Issues	267
9.4.1	Closing the Welfare Door?	267
9.4.2	Adopting a Points System?	268
9.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	269
9.6	Why Do Migration Policies Exist?	270
9.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	270
9.8	Review Questions and Exercises	271
9.9	Technical Annex: Net Gains from Migration	272
10	Employment Protection Legislation	275
10.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	276
10.2	Theory	284
10.2.1	A Neutrality Result	284
10.2.2	Removing Risk Neutrality	287
10.2.3	EPL with Rigid Wages	287
10.2.4	EPL as a Tax	289
10.2.5	Two-Tier Regimes	290
10.3	Empirical Evidence	291
10.3.1	Cross-Country Analyses	291
10.3.2	Studies Based on Firm and Worker Data	292
10.3.3	Endogeneity of EPL	297
10.4	Policy Issues	298
10.4.1	How Much Protection Should EPL Provide?	298
10.4.2	Should There Be a Single Employment Contract?	300
10.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	301
10.6	Why Does EPL Exist?	302
10.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	303
10.8	Review Questions and Exercises	303
10.9	Technical Annex: When Is EPL Efficient?	305
11	Unemployment Benefits	307
11.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	308
11.2	Theory	314
11.2.1	A Perfect Labor Market	314
11.2.2	An Imperfect Labor Market	317
11.3	Empirical Evidence	322
11.3.1	Effects of UBs on Unemployment Duration	322
11.3.2	Effect of UBs on Post-unemployment Outcomes	333
11.4	Policy Issues	335
11.4.1	Should the Generosity of UBs Vary over the Business Cycle?	335
11.4.2	Is Moral Hazard All That Matters?	336

11.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	337
11.6	Why Do UBs Exist?	339
11.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	341
11.8	Review Questions and Exercises	341
11.9	Technical Annex: Search Theory and Duration Models	342
11.9.1	Search Theory	342
11.9.2	Duration Models	349
12	Active Labor Market Policies	351
12.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	352
12.2	Theory	354
12.3	Empirical Evidence	356
12.3.1	Experimental Studies	358
12.3.2	Nonexperimental Studies	364
12.4	Policy Issues	366
12.4.1	Do We Need Public Employment Services?	367
12.4.2	Do We Need Activation Policies?	367
12.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	368
12.6	Why Do ALMPs Exist?	369
12.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	370
12.8	Review Questions and Exercises	370
12.9	Technical Annex: ALMP	371
12.9.1	The Statistical Foundations of the Matching Function	371
12.9.2	Activating Unemployed Workers	372
13	Payroll Taxes	375
13.1	Measures and Cross-Country Comparisons	376
13.2	Theory	380
13.2.1	A Perfect Labor Market	380
13.2.2	An Imperfect Labor Market	384
13.3	Empirical Evidence	386
13.4	Policy Issues	388
13.4.1	How to Make Work Pay?	388
13.4.2	How to Pay and Target Beneficiaries	392
13.5	Interactions with Other Institutions	393
13.6	Why Do Payroll Taxes Exist?	394
13.7	Suggestions for Further Reading	395
13.8	Review Questions and Exercises	395
13.9	Technical Annex: Payroll Taxes	396
13.9.1	Taxes, Benefits, and the Structure of Taxation	396
13.9.2	General Equilibrium Effects of Taxes	399
	References	405
	Name Index	425
	Subject Index	429