CONTENTS

Preface vii

Acknowledgements xi

1 INTRODUCTION: Journeys into the Zone of Cinema 1
Two perspectives on the visual ·-· The cinema as cosmomorphic, or world making: geomorphic, biomorphic, and anthropomorphic ·-· Stalker as paradigm: Tracking the cinema, stalking the psyche ·-· The argument ·-· Overview of the chapters

2 ECOLOGY, MORPHOLOGY, SEMIOSIS: A Process-Relational Account of the Cinema 31
The three ecologies of images: material, social, perceptual ·-· Process-relational ontology ·-· Perceptual ecologies: How we get drawn into the cinematic world ·-· Peircean semiosis: firstness, secondness, and thirdness ·-· Spectacle, narrativity, and signness ·-· Scenes, episodes, and cinematic impact

3 TERRITORY: The Geomorphology of the Visible 69
Geomorphism in life and in image ·-· An initial typology ·-· Picturing "nature": Landscape aesthetics as socio-natural production ·-· Anchoring the filmic world ·-· Staking claims and territorializing identities: Making the West ·-· Dovzhenko's cinematic pantheism ·-· Nature, holism, and the eco-administrative state ·-· Industry, existential landscapes, and the firstness of things ·-· Post-westerns, pantheism, and the ecological sublime ·-· Kinetic landscapes, the exhilaration of movement, and the differentiation of space ·-· Cinematic tourism, object fetishism, and the global landscape ·-· Enframing the world, or expanding perception? ·-· "Burn but his books": Deconstructing the gaze from both ends

4 ENCOUNTER: First Contact, Utopia, and the Becoming of Another 141
The ethnographic paradigm ·-· Nanook/Allakariallak and the two-way gaze ·-· King Kong's imperial gaze: From ethnographic to cinematic spectacle ·-· Upriver journeys, hearts of darkness, and contact zones ·-· Beyond first contact ·-· Cinematic holism, auto-ethnography, and visual sovereignty ·-· From the deconstruction of reality to its reflexive reconstruction ·-· Green identities: images of choice, hope, struggle, and community

Ivakhiv, Adrian J.
Ecologies of the moving image
2013

digitalisiert durch:
IDS Basel Bern

5 ANIMA MORALIA: Journeys across Frontiers 193
Pointing, seeing, gazing ·-· Animating the image, imaging the animate ·-· Writing, seeing, and faking nature ·-· Making nature: inter-natural co-productions ·-· Animation, plasmaticness, and Disney ·-· Boundary traffic: seeing, being seen, and the horror of crossing over ·-· Animal by analogy: penguins and family values ·-· Individual crossings: Bittner's birds, Treadwell's bears ·-· Sheer becomings: one or several types of packs ·-· Boundary strategies: ethics of the contact zone

6 TERRA AND TRAUMA: The Geopolitics of the Real 253
Recapitulation of the argument ·-· Trauma and the imagination of disaster ·-· Strange weather, network narratives, and the traumatic event ·-· The sublime and the Real ·-· The eco-imaginary in post-9/11 culture ·-· Political ecologies in three dimensions and more ·-· Avatar's eco-apocalyptic Zone ·-· Toward a Peircian synthesis: aesthetics, ethics, and ecologics of the image-event ·-· Ecology, time, and the image ·-· Ecophilosophical cinema: moving images on a moving planet

AFTERWORD: Digital Futures in a Biosemiotic World 327

APPENDIX: Doing Process-Relational Media Analysis 341

Notes 347

Index 403