

French Theory and American Art: An Introduction Anaël Lejeune, Olivier Mignon, and Raphaël Pirenne	8
American Beginnings Sylvère Lotringer	44
The Reasons of Art and the Lunacy of Theory François Cusset	80
Structurism and Structuralism in New York's Artistic Field in the Mid-1960s Katia Schneller	96
From the Death of the Author to the Birth of the Reader: A Conceptual Perspective Erik Verhagen	116
Sartrean Phenomenology and Post-Minimalism: On Some Works by Mel Bochner and Dan Graham Larisa Dryansky	138
Minimalism and the Fate of "Theory" Stephen Melville	166
October and the Problem of Formalism Peter Osborne	180
The British Bridge Laura Mulvey and Victor Burgin interviewed by Hilde Van Gelder and Alexander Streitberger	198
How to Do the History of French Theory in the Visual Arts: A New York Story John Rajchman	244
Impossibilities: Painting Between Jean-François Lyotard and Philippe Lacoue-Labarthe Philip Armstrong	268

Laughing with the Medusa: Notes on Hélène Cixous and American Feminist Artists Jean-Michel Rabaté	286
Maurice Blanchot, Tel Quel , and the Formation of a Sadean Aesthetic in the Work of Vito Acconci Benjamin Greenman	296
"Women at Home": Martha Rosler and Yvonne Rainer, Circa 1975 Rachel Haidu	326
"Simulationism" and Its Discontents: Peter Halley Reading Jean Baudrillard Kassandra Nakas	360