

Table of Contents

Foreword by the editor	VI
Acknowledgements	IX
Executive Summary	XI
Glossary and Acronyms	XIV
List of Figures	XV
List of Tables	XVI
List of Boxes	XVIII
List of Maps	XVIII
Part I – Introduction, Theoretical Background and Case Study	1
1 Micro Insurance for Reducing Poverty	3
1.1 Introduction	3
1.2 Conceptual background and objective	6
1.3 Relevance	9
1.4 Hypotheses and research questions	10
1.5 Data and methodological approach	12
1.6 The case study	13
1.7 The structure of the thesis	14
2 Micro Insurance and Institutions	17
2.1 Micro finance	18
2.1.1 The role of micro finance in development	18
2.1.2 Micro finance and NGOs in India	19
2.1.3 Micro finance challenges	20
2.2 The concept of micro insurance	21
2.2.1 Micro insurance products	22
2.2.2 Micro insurance delivery: the Partner-Agent Model	25
2.2.2.1 The Full-Service Model and the Community-Based Model	25
2.2.2.2 The Partner-Agent Model	26
2.2.3 Opportunities of micro insurance	29
2.2.4 Excursus: Risk profile and risk management of uninsured households	32
2.2.4.1 Risk profile of uninsured households	33
2.2.4.2 Uninsured household's knowledge and attitude towards insurance	35
2.2.4.3 Willingness to pay and affordability	37
2.2.4.4 Risk management strategies of uninsured households	37
2.2.4.5 Conclusion of uninsured households	40

2.2.5 Challenges in offering micro insurance	41
2.2.6 Research on micro insurance	43
2.3 Institutions and development	45
2.3.1 Institutions.....	46
2.3.2 Institutions in India	47
2.3.3 Institutions involved in micro insurance delivery	48
2.4 Summary of micro insurance and institutions.....	49
3 India's Insurance Industry and the Partner-Agent Model
AIDMI – Afat Vimo	51
3.1 Micro insurance in India	52
3.1.1 India's insurance industry	52
3.1.2 Micro insurance industry.....	53
3.2 The Partner-Agent Model AIDMI – Afat Vimo.....	56
3.2.1 The micro insurance scheme – background and approach	56
3.2.2 The insurance system	62
3.2.3 The insurers (the partner).....	63
3.2.4 The facilitating agency (the agent).....	65
3.2.5 The households – client profile of micro-insured households.....	68
Part II – Study Area, Methods, Sample Description	77
4 Study Area	79
4.1 Poor disaster-affected India	79
4.1.1 India, country at risk	79
4.1.2 Poverty and vulnerability in India.....	85
4.2 The Gujarat Districts selected	89
4.2.1 The West Indian State of Gujarat.....	89
4.2.2 Ahmedabad City	94
4.2.3 Bhuj.....	97
4.2.4 Kheda City	100
4.2.5 Vadodara City	103
4.2.6 The City Radhanpur and villages in Patan District	103
5 Methodological Approach	107
5.1 Research question and its operationalisation.....	107
5.2 Sample selection, sample size, and pilot test.....	109
5.2.1 Sample size and sample selection	110
5.2.2 Pilot test	112
5.2.3 Procedure of the surveys	112
5.3 Analysing the Partner-Agent Model at the interface between households and insurers from the policy-holder's view – rationale and variables selected.....	113
5.3.1 Objective and subjective measurements	113
5.3.2 The structure of the sample.....	115
5.3.3 Functionality of micro insurance schemes.....	121

5.3.4	Cost structure, handling of premiums, and financial impact	123
5.3.5	Perception and satisfaction	123
5.4	Expert interviews related to micro insurance	125
6	Characteristics of the Sample	127
6.1	Rural and urban distribution	128
6.2	Socio-cultural and socio-demographic characteristics	129
6.2.1	Religious affiliation	129
6.2.2	Household size	130
6.2.3	Age structure	131
6.2.4	Gender ratio	131
6.2.5	Household composition	133
6.2.6	Educational attainment	133
6.2.7	Educational influence on knowledge and awareness	135
6.3	Household income, poverty status, and assets	137
6.3.1	Household income	137
6.3.2	Source of income from labour work or micro enterprises	138
6.3.3	Poverty status	139
6.3.4	Households' assets	141
6.4	Disaster experience of policyholders	147
6.4.1	Disaster impacts and damages incurred by policyholders	147
6.4.2	Insured versus occurred disasters	151
6.4.3	Losses due to disasters	153
6.5	Claims made, entry into the insurance scheme, premium payment	154
6.5.1	Insurance track record	154
6.5.2	Entry of households into insurance system	155
6.5.3	Premium payment – costs and modalities	157
6.6	Summary and conclusions of the characteristics of the sample	158
6.6.1	Specific needs of the target group	159
6.6.2	Possible difficulties in premium payment	160
6.6.3	High risk profile	160
6.6.4	Low efforts related to insurance implementation	161
Part III	– Empirical Part	165
7	Functionality of the Partner-Agent Model	167
7.1	Cases of damage, communication problem, not claiming	168
7.1.1	Knowledge about insurance coverage and claim procedure	169
7.1.2	Notification of claims submitted	169
7.2	Claim settlement and main difficulties	174
7.2.1	Acceptance or rejection of claims	175
7.2.2	Time period until reimbursement is made	176
7.2.3	Amount of reimbursement	179
7.3	Summary and conclusions of the functionality of the Partner-Agent Model ...	182
7.3.1	Lack of knowledge	182
7.3.2	Deficits in the claim settlement	183

8 Cost Structure, Handling of Premiums, and Financial Impact on Households	187
8.1 Financial handling of and response to insurance cost	187
8.1.1 Cost of micro insurance and financial burden	188
8.1.2 Household handling of insurance cost	191
8.1.3 Assessment of price/performance ratio	193
8.2 Financial impact of micro insurance	195
8.2.1 Reimbursement for paying debts.....	195
8.2.2 Investment into livelihood.....	196
8.2.3 Further spending options.....	196
8.2.4 Factors influencing the spending behaviour	196
8.3 Summary and conclusions of the cost structure, handling of premiums, and financial impact of micro insurance on households.....	198
8.3.1 Difficulties with premium payments	198
8.3.2 Misuse of insurance funds.....	200
9 Perception of and Satisfaction with Micro Insurance	203
9.1 Replacement value	204
9.2 Policy renewal and confidence	205
9.2.1 Satisfaction after claims	205
9.2.2 Influence of micro insurance on living conditions	208
9.2.3 Policy renewal.....	210
9.2.4 Expected impacts of micro insurance.....	211
9.2.5 Trust in micro insurance	213
9.2.6 Influence of micro insurance on life improvement.....	215
9.3 Unmet needs.....	219
9.3.1 Uninsured health care needs.....	220
9.3.2 Neglected agricultural insurance.....	222
9.3.3 Cost structure and affordability of additional coverage	222
9.4 Summary and conclusions of perception of and satisfaction with micro insurance	224
9.4.1 Incapability to fully restore livelihood.....	224
9.4.2 Confidence in and satisfaction with micro insurance	225
9.4.3 Need for health-related coverage	227

Part IV – Synthesis

10 Synthesis	231
10.1 Major findings	232
10.2 Implications and recommendations.....	235
10.2.1 Strategies of micro insurance provision.....	235
10.2.2 Institutional efficiency	236
10.2.3 General insights	236
10.3 Conclusion	237

Bibliography	239
Literature cited	239
Internet sources	248
Interviews / Personal communication	249
Data	250
Appendix	251