

Chapter 4: An Economics Perspective: Canada in the International Economy,
PETER KARL KRESL	227
Introduction	227
The Development of Canada's Economy	234
The Struggle for Autonomy	243
The Regional Character of Canada	252
The Role of the State in the Economy	263
The Structure of the Economy and Production	271
Canada and the International Economy	280
Conclusions: Current Problems of Economic Policy	290
Notes	293
Chapter 5: An Anthropological Perspective: The Ingredients of a Multicultural Society,
PETER WOOLFSON	297
Introduction	297
Native Peoples of Canada	307
The Native Peoples and the Canadian Government	333
The Founding Peoples: Anglo-Canadians and Franco-Canadians	345
The Immigrants	364
✓ Canadian Identity?	392
Notes	393
Chapter 6: A Literary Perspective: The Development of a National Consciousness,
RONALD SUTHERLAND	401
Introduction	401
The Colonial Period (1750–1867)	414
The Confederation Period (1867–1900)	419
The Early Twentieth Century (1900–1920)	425
The Modern Period (1920–1945)	431
The Breakup of the Old Order (1945–1960)	445
The Search for Vital Truth (1960–1970)	463
The New Hero (1970–)	477
Chapter 7: An International Perspective: The Foreign Policy of Adjustment,
ROGER FRANK SWANSON	485
Introduction	485
Canada's Evolution as an International Actor	492
Domestic Framework	503

Contents

ix

Canadian Foreign Policy Objectives	509
The Range of Canada's External Relations	522
Canada and the United States	535
Conclusion	560
Notes	562

Appendix A: Questions for Discussion and Study	565
-------------------------------------------------------	------------

Appendix B: Bibliographies and Suggested Readings	577
----------------------------------------------------------	------------

Index	613
--------------	------------