

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
List of Figures, Charts, and Tables	xi
List of Abbreviations	xv
Place-name Equivalents	xix
Preface: Of Easterlings and their Festivals TOM PETTITT	xxi
Introduction: On the Study of Festival	1
1. Background to the Inquiry	15
1.1. Historiography	15
1.2. Sources and Methodology	19
2. Urban Associations	25
2.1. Social Structure in Livonian Cities: Guilds and Confraternities	25
2.2. Annual Festivals: The Summit of Social Life in Urban Associations	41
3. Christmas and Carnival	55
3.1. Duration of Christmas, Special Days, Activities	55
3.2. Duration of Carnival, Special Days, Activities	67
3.3. Participants and their Duties	89
3.4. Guests, Entertainers, and Dramatic Interludes	97
3.5. Festival Devils and the Problem of Disguise	108

4. The Popinjay Shoot and the May Count Festival	119
4.1. The Popinjay Shoot and the Associated Festivities	119
4.2. The May Count Festival	142
5. Minor Seasonal Feast Day Celebrations	161
5.1. Easter, Pentecost, Corpus Christi	161
5.2. The Feasts of St John, St Pantaleon, and the Assumption of the Virgin	169
5.3. Michaelmas, All Souls' Day, Martinmas	175
6. Arrival of a Lord: Festive Entries of the Livonian Master	183
7. Essential Elements of Festivals	201
7.1. Financing the Festivals: Expenditure and Income	201
7.2. Food and Drink	207
7.3. Dances and Games	229
7.4. Jousts	238
7.5. Norms of Behaviour — Feasts and Misbehaviour	248
7.6. Ceremonies and Space	256
8. Continuity and Change after the Reformation	269
Conclusion	281
Appendices
1. The Instructions for Stewards of the Black Heads in Reval Concerning the drunke at Christmas and Carnival (1513–14)	287
2. The Regulations for the Shooting Contest Issued by the City Council of Reval (c. 1550)	299
3. Prohibitions Against Masking and Carnival Activities from Riga, Reval, and Pernau	303
4. Sample Feast Accounts from Reval and Riga	307
5. Food and Drink Purchased for Festivals	317
6. Livonian Currency, Weights, and Measures	333
Bibliography	335
Index	359