

Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction: A New Political Medium for Women 1

1. Making Women Their Business: The Origins of the Women's Political Press in Britain 19
2. Building Networks: The Rise of a Woman-Identified Publishing Community 60
3. Gendering the News for the New Woman Activist 99
4. Reforming the Nation: Suffrage Advocacy and Edwardian Political Culture 140
5. Strategies of Dissent: Women's Wartime Political Journalism 187
6. The New Feminist Reader and the Remaking of Women's Political Culture after World War I 207

Conclusion: Gender, Journalism, and the Female Political Subject 235

Appendix: Bibliography of British Women's Advocacy Periodicals 245

Notes 253

Bibliography 287

Index 301