

Contents

List of Maps	xii
List of Contributors	xiii

---

Introduction	1
Daniel Power

Why the 'central Middle Ages'?	3
Europe in the central Middle Ages: climate and environment	7
The faultlines of European culture	11
The political divisions of Europe	15
Europe around the year 1000: a continent transformed?	22
An age of expansion	25

---

1 Society	28
Martin Aurell

Scholarly discourses versus social realities	29
The castellan aristocracy in the eleventh and twelfth centuries	32
A 'nobility of privileges' in the thirteenth century	37
The peasantry: servitude and freedom	40
Proud to be merchants	43
The poor and marginalized	45
The family	47
The village and the lordship	54

---

2 Economy	57
David Nicholas

The first phase of rural economic expansion (to c.1180): an agricultural revolution?	58
The towns and the development of a market economy	63
The expansion of the rural economy: the second phase (c.1180–c.1330)	66
The coinage revolution	69
The commercial changes of the thirteenth century	72

The situation of Italy	80
Credit and banking	82
The fairs	86
The 'commercial revolution' of the late thirteenth century?	88
<hr/>
3 Politics	91
Björn Weiler
The political geography of Europe	91
Qualifications for kingship	96
The theory and practice of kingship	100
The community of the realm	108
The means and ends of political communication	113
<hr/>
4 Religion	121
Julia Barrow
Sources	121
The Church's ancien régime : bishops and ritual c.1000	123
The process of transition	126
Law and the Church hierarchy in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries	128
The lay experience of religion	133
Monks, nuns, regular canons, and friars	138
Heretics	144
Jewish communities	145
Muslims in Spain	147
<hr/>
5 Intellectual and Cultural Creativity	149
Anna Sapir Abulafia
Education and learning: the schools	150
Education and learning: the universities	158
Historians and (auto)biographers at work	164
Vernacular culture	170
A twelfth-century Renaissance?	175

---

6 The Expansion of Latin Christendom	178
Nora Berend
Christianization in Scandinavia and central Europe	179
The new polities of central Europe	185
The new polities of northern Europe	190
Iberia	194
Crusades	200
Travels, mission, and discoveries	206

---

Conclusion	209
Daniel Power
Further Reading	219
Chronology	239
Glossary	257
Maps	261
Index	283