

Contents

| | |
|------------------|----|
| About the author | ix |
| Acknowledgements | x |
| Preface | 1 |

Part one: World in bits

| | |
|-----------------------|----|
| 1. What's in a phone? | 9 |
| 2. Save the ether | 20 |
| 3. The cellular idea | 24 |

Part two: Different countries, different paths to mobility

| | |
|--|-----|
| 4. Born in the USA | 35 |
| 5. The Nordic way | 47 |
| 6. Europe before GSM: La Donna è Mobile, Männer sind nicht! | 54 |
| 7. GSM: European union | 58 |
| 8. Digital America divided | 68 |
| 9. Mob rule: competition and class in the UK | 72 |
| 10. Decommunisation = capitalist power + cellularisation | 90 |
| 11. Japanese garden | 94 |
| 12. For richer, for poorer: India and China | 102 |

Part three: Mobile cultures

| | |
|--|-----|
| 13. Txt msgs | 111 |
| 14. TxtPower | 112 |
| 15. Two organisations in the Congo | 117 |
| 16. M-Africa | 119 |
| 17. The Nokia way – to the Finland base station! | 132 |
| 18. Mobile phones as a threat to health | 141 |
| 19. Cars, phones and crime | 147 |
| 20. Phone hacking: a very British scandal | 161 |
| 21. Phones on film | 169 |

Part four: Smartphones

| | |
|--|-----|
| 22. Intimately personal computers | 177 |
| 23. 3G: a cellular world made by standards | 183 |
| 24. Apple | 193 |
| 25. Apple's rivals | 207 |
| 26. Blood on the smartphone | 213 |
| 27. Smartphone culture | 220 |
| 28. Cellular war | 231 |
| 29. The revolution will not be mobilised | 236 |
| 30. Oases of quiet | 241 |
| 31. Perpetuum mobile? | 253 |

| | |
|--------------|-----|
| Bibliography | 263 |
|--------------|-----|

| | |
|-------|-----|
| Index | 271 |
|-------|-----|