

Contents

List of Figures	vii
Preface	ix
Introduction: Performing National Identity on the Early Modern Stage	1
PART I      TERRITORY
1 Plotting England: The Transformation of Territory into Homeland	33
2 Mapping the Globe: The Cartographic Gaze and Henry IV Part 1	55
PART II     HISTORY
3 Making History: Staging the National Past	77
4 Nationalizing History? The Anglica Historia , Richard III and the Appropriation of the English Past	97
PART III    RELIGION
5 Performing Religion: Belief and National Identity	119
6 The New Faith of the Nation: Religion in King John	133
PART IV    CLASS
7 How Common Is the Commonwealth? Class and National Identity	153
8 'Infinite numbers': Nation and Class in Henry VI Part 2	171
PART V     GENDER
9 Women on Top: Gender and National Identity	193
10 The Private Is Political: Gender and Nation in Edward II	213
Conclusion: Early Modern Englishness and the Transformative Power of the Performative	227
Bibliography	241
Index	265