

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Foreword	1
DONALD M. HASSLER
Introduction
MASOOD A. RAJA and SWARALIPI NANDI	5
Part I: Postcolonial Issues in Science Fiction
1. Science Fiction as Experimental Ground for Issues of the Postcolonial Novel
MICHELE BRAUN	17
2. Truth Is Stranger: The Postnational “Aliens” of Biofiction
KAREN CARDOZO and BANU SUBRAMANIAM	30
3. Forms of Compromise: The Interaction of Humanity, Technology and Landscape in Ken MacLeod’s Night Sessions
ADAM FRISCH	46
4. The Language of Postnationality: Cultural Identity via Science Fictional Trajectories
CHRIS PAK	56
Part II: The Nation and Ethnicity in Science Fiction
5. The “Popular” Science: Bollywood’s Take on Science Fiction and the Discourse of Nations
SWARALIPI NANDI	73
6. Postcolonial Ethics and Identity in Mike Resnick’s Kirinyaga
JENN BRANDT	88

7. The Frontier Myth and Racial Politics ÁNGEL MATEOS-APARICIO MARTÍN-ALBO	100
8. Dystopia and the Postcolonial Nation SUPARNO BANERJEE	125
Part III: Towards a Postnational Discourse
9. Body Speaks: Communication and the Limits of Nationalism in Octavia Butler's Xenogenesis Trilogy KATHERINE R. BROAD	141
10. Engineering a Cosmopolitan Future: Race, Nation, and World of Warcraft JASON W. ELLIS	156
11. When "Nation" Stops Making Sense: Mexico and Giorgio Agamben's "State of Exception" in Children of Men STACY SCHMITT RUSNAK	174
12. Fantastic Language/Political Reporting: The Postcolonial Science Fiction Illocutionary Force Is with Us MARLEEN S. BARR	188
About the Contributors	211
Index	213