

Contents

List of Figures	xi
List of Tables	xiii
Companion Website	xv
Preface	xvii
Acknowledgements	xxi
1 An introduction to business research	1
Introduction	1
The meaning of research	2
Business research	3
Why research is important	4
Research in Action: The London Olympics 2012 logo	4
Key concepts of research	6
How business research links to the organization	20
Research skills	21
Research process	24
Differences between academic and organizational research	25
The role of the supervisor	27
Research in Action: Multi-strategy research	30
Summary and conclusion	31
Case study: The relevance of research methods classes	32
You're the supervisor	32
Common questions and answers	33
References	34
Further reading	35
2 Developing a research topic	37
Introduction	37
Nature of your topic	38
What makes a good research topic?	43
How to develop research questions	48
How to develop aims and objectives	52
Theory, research questions and objectives	55
Case study	56

Research in Action: Are you happy?	57
Summary and conclusion	57
Case study: Turning a research topic into aims, objectives and questions	58
You're the supervisor	58
Common questions and answers	59
References	59
Further reading	60
3 Conducting a literature review	61
Introduction	61
Nature of a literature review	62
Literature review process	64
Sources of literature	70
Critical review	76
Structure of a literature review	77
Research in Action: Conducting a systematic literature review	82
Summary and conclusion	84
Case study: Writing a successful literature review	84
You're the supervisor	85
Common questions and answers	85
References	86
Further reading	87
4 Addressing ethical issues	89
Introduction	89
The nature of ethics	90
Why do I need to learn about ethics?	95
Ethical responsibilities to research stakeholders	95
Ethics across cultures	103
Ethical approval for research involving human subjects	104
Research in Action: Ethical issues and your employer	109
Summary and conclusion	110
Case study: Ethical issues prior to conducting research	110
You're the supervisor	111
Common questions and answers	111
References	112
Further reading	113
5 Establishing a research design	115
Introduction	115
Nature of your research design	116
Types of research study	117
Types of research design	119
Testing the quality of research	129
The research proposal	136

Research in Action: The internationalization and brand development of Chinese firms	138
The relationship between research design and research strategy	142
Research in Action: Online branding – the case of McDonald's	143
Summary and conclusion	144
Case study: Case analysis options	145
You're the supervisor	145
Common questions and answers	145
References	146
Further reading	147
6 Primary data collection	149
Introduction	149
What are primary data?	151
Primary data collection options	152
Introduction to questionnaires and interviews	152
Interviews	153
Questionnaires	163
Research in Action	167
Observation	174
How to conduct fieldwork within your own organization	176
Cultural issues and data collection	176
Data collection using online methods	178
Case study: Samsung and SurveyMonkey	180
Triangulation of data collection	181
Your project supervisor and primary data collection	182
Research in action: British Airways plc	182
Summary and conclusion	183
Case study: Types of interview	183
You're the supervisor	184
Common questions and answers	184
References	185
Further reading	186
7 Using secondary data	187
Introduction	187
What are secondary data?	188
Reasons for basing your research project entirely on secondary data	189
Business and secondary data	190
Reliance on the Internet as a secondary data source	191
The distinction between literature review and secondary data analysis	191
Classifying secondary data	192
The advantages of secondary data	195

The disadvantages of secondary data	196
The usage of foreign language sources	199
Evaluating secondary data	200
Presenting secondary data	201
Your project supervisor and secondary data	202
How to link primary and secondary data	203
Research in Action: Examining sources of secondary data	203
Summary and conclusion	204
Case study: Evaluating and presenting secondary data	205
You're the supervisor	205
Common questions and answers	206
References	207
Further reading	207
8 Sampling	209
Introduction	209
Stages in the sampling process	210
Stage 1: Clearly define your target population	210
Stage 2: Select your sampling frame	212
Stage 3: Choose your sampling technique(s)	212
Stage 4: Determine your sample size	220
Stage 5: Collect your data	224
Stage 6: Assess your response rate	224
Research in Action: Innocent Drinks	225
Summary and conclusion	226
Case study	227
You're the supervisor	227
Common questions and answers	227
References	228
Further reading	229
9 Analyzing quantitative data	231
Introduction	231
What is quantitative data analysis?	232
Preparing your data for analysis	234
Summarizing and presenting your data	237
Describing your data	244
Inferential statistics	254
How do I know which statistical tests to use?	267
Statistical software packages	267
Preparing your data for analysis using SPSS	268
Entering your data into SPSS	270
Producing descriptive statistics using SPSS	271
Producing charts using SPSS	271
Research in Action: Using descriptive statistics and hypothesis testing	273

Summary and conclusion	274
Case study: Flexible working – descriptive statistics	274
You're the supervisor	275
Common questions and answers	276
References	276
Further reading	276
10 Analyzing qualitative data	279
Introduction	279
What is qualitative analysis?	280
Steps in qualitative analysis	282
Transcribing your data	282
Reading and generating categories, themes and patterns	284
Interpreting your findings	288
Approaches to qualitative analysis	288
Quantifying qualitative data: Content analysis	292
Which qualitative approach should I use to analyze my data?	293
Qualitative analytical software packages	294
Research in Action: Undertaking qualitative content analysis	294
Summary and conclusion	295
Case study: Corporate visions of Japan's leading brands	296
You're the supervisor	298
Common questions and answers	298
References	299
Further reading	300
11 Writing up and presenting your research	301
Introduction	301
Where to start – writing up	302
Structure of a research project	307
What are the criteria for evaluating a research project?	315
Presenting your research project	317
Common errors found in student research projects	323
Writing up and your project supervisor	323
Research in Action: Writing an abstract	324
Summary and conclusion	325
Case study: Submitting a research project	325
You're the supervisor	326
Common questions and answers	326
References	327
Further reading	327
Glossary	329
Index	339