CONTENTS

Acknowledgements vii
Notes on Contributors ix
Preface xiii

David L. Hoover

Introduction xv

David L. Hoover & Sharon Lattig, Editors

Part I: Foregrounding, Estrangement, and Pattern
1. Foregrounding: Past, Present, Future
   Willie van Peer, Sonia Zyngier & Jèméljan Hakemulder 1
2. Modernist Poetics of Estrangement: Ezra Pound’s Answer to Stéphane Mallarmé
   Anne Birien 23
3. Local Interpretation and the Syntax of Keats’s ‘To Autumn’
   Robin J. Sowards 39

Part II: Formal Analysis and the Analysis of Form
4. Story Elements as Sets
   Henrik Schärfe 61
5. The Metrical Structure of Taiwanese Nursery Rhymes: A Corpus
   Study
   Yuchau E. Hsiao 85
6. Embodiment and the Irreducible Sign: Towards a Theoretical
   Anthropo-Semiotic Grounding for Literary Textual Analysis
   Ulf Cronquist 107

Part III: Speech and Thought Presentation
7. Historical Transformations of Free Indirect Style
   Violeta Sotirova 129
Contents

8. Using Speech and Thought Presentation to Validate Hypotheses Regarding the Nature of the Crime Novels of Andrea Camilleri
   John Douthwaite 143

9. How to Make a Drama out of a Speech Act: The Speech Act of Apology in the Film A Fish Called Wanda
   Mick Short 169

Bibliography 191

Index 207