

Table of contents

INTRODUCTION

Rethinking narrative identity: Persona and perspective	1
Martin Klepper

CHAPTER 1

Identity and empathy: On the correlation of narrativity and morality	33
Norbert Meuter

CHAPTER 2

Axes of identity: Persona, perspective, and the meaning of (Keith Richards's) Life	49
Mark Freeman

CHAPTER 3

The quest for a third space: Heterotopic self-positioning and narrative identity	69
Wolfgang Kraus

CHAPTER 4

Constructing perspectives as positioning resources in stories of the self	85
Gabriele Lucius-Hoene

CHAPTER 5

Referential frameworks and focalization in a craft artist's life story: A socionarratological perspective on narrative identity	103
Jarmila Mildorf

CHAPTER 6

Strange perspectives = strange (narrative?) identities?	117
Rüdiger Heinze

CHAPTER 7

“Indefinite, sketchy, but not entirely obliterated”:

Narrative identity in Jeffrey Eugenides’s Middlesex

129

Nicole Frey Büchel

CHAPTER 8

Creative confession: Self-writing, forgiveness and ethics
in Ian McEwan’s Atonement

147

Kim L. Worthington

CHAPTER 9

The queer self and the snares of heteronormativity:
Quentin Crisp’s life story – A successful failure

171

Eveline Kilian

CHAPTER 10

Confessional poetry: A poetic perspective on narrative identity

187

Eva Brunner

Contributors

203

Index

207