

CONTENTS

Tables	xi
Figures	xiii
Introduction	1

The Dilemma Between Liberty and Equality in Education • Methodological Considerations • Objectives and Limitations of a Crosscultural Approach • Conclusions

PART ONE SCHOOLS AND SOCIETIES

Chapter 1 The Emergence of Autonomous Educational Institutions	31
---	-----------

Influence of Emerging Societal Complexity on Educational Roles • Educational Roles in Societies with Low Levels of Literacy • Increase in Scale and Differentiation of Educational Roles • Conclusions

Chapter 2 Education and the Four Other Basic Social Institutions and the Family	46
--	-----------

Education and the Family • Education and the Economy • Education and the Polity • Education and Religion

PART TWO THE SCHOOL AS A MICROCOSM

- Chapter 3 The External Constraints of Educational Institutions 115
- Objects of the External Pressures Exerted on School Personnel • Mechanisms of Social Control over Schools • Variations in the Effectiveness of the Educational Mechanisms of Social Control • Conclusions
- Chapter 4 The Vulnerability of School Personnel to External Influences 147
- Prerequisites to the Professionalization of Teachers and Administrators • Recruitment of Teachers and School Administrators • Socialization • Organization of the Occupational Activities of Teachers • Conclusions
- Chapter 5 Professionalization and Bureaucratization of School Personnel: The Ensuing Conflicts 180
- Educational Conflicts: An Overview • Relations Between Superintendents and School Boards • Conflicts between Boards, Superintendents, and Teachers • School Conflicts: Forms and Actors • Conclusions
- Chapter 6 Patterns of Access to Schools: An Overview 203
- Educational Development and Selectivity • Conclusions
- Chapter 7 Factors of Selectivity: Who Can, Should, and Does Go to School? 224
- Determinants of Educational Selectivity • Individual Factors of Selectivity • Influence of the Microenvironment • Influence of the Macroen-

vironment • Influence of Social Organization on Selectivity • Conclusions

Chapter 8 Variations in Curricula and Teaching Styles: Assimilation and Accommodation as Modes of Adaptation of Teachers to Students 265

Assimilation and Accommodation: The Two Poles of Adaptation to the Educational Scene • Styles Characterizing Content and the Form of Teaching • Conclusions

Chapter 9 Assimilation and Accommodation as Opposite Learning Styles 292

An Overview of the Determinants of the Two Learning Styles • Pedagogical Implications of Assimilation and Accommodation as Differing Modes of Learning • Interdependence between Teaching and Learning Styles • Assimilation as an Effect of Educational Processes • Conclusions

Chapter 10 Grades, Examinations, and Other Checkpoints as Mechanisms of Social Control 327

Determinants of the Growth and the Differentiation of Evaluation Systems • Reactions of School Actors to Examinations • Anomic Tendencies of Examination Systems • Examination Reforms

Chapter 11 Economic and Political Implications of Formal Schooling 359

Schooling and the Labor Market • The Crisis of Educational Institutions • Student Responses to the Crisis • Conclusions

Chapter 12 Final Conclusions 386

Summary of the Contradictions between Liberty and Equality in the Educational Process • The

Variety of Utopian Responses to These Contradictions

Author Index	409
Subject Index	415